

KISSINGER AND GROMYKO TALK — United States Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, right, and his Soviet counterpart, Andrei Gromyko, meet at the International Hotel in Geneva, Switzerland, for second round of talks.

Outlook Uncertain In Syrian Talks

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's negotiations to separate Israeli and Syrian troops are likely to take longer than his successful Egyptian-Israeli shuttle diplomacy and the outlook is "very uncertain," says a senior aide.

There will be no disengagement agreement for the Golan Heights unless both Syria and Israel make concessions, the American official said. He said Israel will have to make the first compromise move because it is Israel's army that is on the other country's territory and must withdraw.

But he added that Syria will have to modify its initial proposals submitted to Kissinger in Washington on April 13.

Kissinger arrived in Alexandria Tuesday night to discuss the situation with his most enthusiastic supporter in the Arab world, President Anwar Sadat of Egypt. He gets down to the hard bargaining on Thursday, when he flies to Israel and Syria.

The secretary's hopes "were slightly raised" by his talks Monday and Tuesday in Algiers with President Houari Boumedienne and with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in Geneva, the senior American source reported. But Kissinger will not begin to be able to gauge his chances of success until he reaches Israel, the aide added.

The source said an Israeli withdrawal on the Syrian front would be "riskier" for Israel than its withdrawal from the Suez Canal. But a deadlock would be even riskier, he asserted.

Unofficial reports have said that Israel is prepared to return the 300-square-mile bulge of Syrian territory which it captured in the October war. But the Israelis have said repeatedly that they would never give back the bulk of the Golan Heights territory captured in the 1967 war because from there Syrian artillery repeatedly shelled Israeli fishermen on the Sea of Galilee and Israeli settlements in Northern Galilee.

Syria has been reported prepared to accept Israeli withdrawal from the bulge as an initial disengagement. But unofficial reports say the Syrians also are insisting that Israel pledge to give up all the Golan Heights and also return the city of Kuneitra, a mile west of the 1967 cease-fire line, as part of the initial withdrawal.

Family Grocery Bills Dip Slightly

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The family grocery bill dropped slightly during April, the second straight month of decline, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

The pattern was the same as the one in March: Sales on meat and eggs offset steadily rising prices on items like sugar and milk.

The AP checked the price of 15 food and nonfood items in 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked at the beginning of each succeeding month, using standard brands and sizes or their nearest equivalents. Items not available on one of the check dates were not included in the marketbasket total.

The latest check showed the marketbasket total declined in eight cities during April, down an average of 3 per cent. It went up in the remaining five cities, generally about 1 per cent. The marketbasket total went down in nine cities during March.

Even with the decreases, grocery bills remained well above the levels of March 1973. The marketbasket bill was higher in every one of the cities on May 1, 1974, than it was 14 months earlier. The average increase was 13 per cent.

Sugar, which has been rising since late last year because of increased world demand and lower supplies, went up again. The price jumped in nine cities, was unchanged in three and down in one.

The average price of a five-pound sack of sugar at the start of May was $1.23, up 5 per cent from the $1.17 price last month and up 81 per cent from the 68-cent price on March 1, 1973.

Eggs were down and in seven cities a dozen medium eggs cost less than they did on March 1, 1973. The price declined during April in every city but Philadelphia, with an average drop of 18 per cent. Pork chops also declined in seven cities, down an average of 17 per cent.

Nixon Ordered Muscle

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and his closest advisers were flustered, confused, tormented, sometimes angry and sometimes bemused by the growth and persistence of the Watergate scandals.

They spent hours agonizing over their troubles, trying to decide on a course of action that would neutralize the Watergate mess. Considerations ranged from getting the whole truth out to paying hush money to cover up the truth.

They talked of protecting their friends and destroying their enemies. Their conversations were informal, free-wheeling, wide-ranging and frequently profane.

This is the portrait of a besieged presidency that emerges from a 1,308-page volume of transcribed White House tape recordings turned over to the House Judiciary Committee Tuesday.

On several occasions Nixon expressed exasperation that his administration was under fire for political activities he considered common occurrences in political life and ordered that federal muscle be used to hurt anyone who tried to hurt him. Nixon also believed that the scandal wouldn't last long.

"This is a war," Nixon said in a Sept. 15, 1972, conversation with his chief of staff, H. R. Haldeman and his counsel, John W. Dean III. "We take a few shots and it will be over. We will give them a few shots and it will be over."

"I want the most comprehensive notes on all those who tried to do us in. They didn't have to do it .... They were doing this quite deliberately and they are asking for it and they are going to get it ....

"We have not used the Bureau (FBI) and we have not used the Justice Department but things are going to change now."

The most intense discussions occurred in two meetings March 21, 1973, during which Nixon, Dean and Haldeman debated whether to cover up high administration involvement in the Watergate scandal or "let it all hang out."

Conversations about proposed cover-ups took several forms, one of which was a discussion of paying hush money to silence the original Watergate conspirators.

Nixon: How much money do you need?

Dean: I would say these people are going to cost a million dollars over the next two years.

Nixon: We could get that. On the money, if you need the money you could get that. You could get a million dollars. You could get it in cash. I know where it could be gotten. It is not easy, but it could be done. But the question is who the hell would handle it. Any ideas on that?

Dean: That's right. Well, I think that is something that (John) Mitchell ought to be charged with.

Nixon: I would think so too.

At another point, Dean told Nixon he wasn't at all confident of being able to maintain silence among the people involved at the various stages of the scandal. And Nixon proposed that full disclosure might be the only solution.

Dean: ... Everybody is now starting to watch after their behind. Everyone is getting their own counsel. More counsel are getting involved. How do I protect my ass?

Nixon: They are scared.

Dean: That is bad. We were able to hold it for a long time ....

Nixon: Your cover is broken?

Dean: That's right and it's ....

Nixon: ... Complete disclosure, isn't that the best way to do it? .... That would be my view.

But shortly thereafter they are back to discussing a coverup.

Dean: Well, I have been a conduit for information on taking care of people out there who are guilty of crimes.

Nixon: Oh, you mean like the blackmailers?

Dean: The blackmailers. Right.

Nixon: Well, I wonder if that part of it can't be—I wonder if that doesn't—let me put it frankly: I wonder if that doesn't have to be continued? Let me put it this way: Let us suppose that you get the million bucks, and you get the proper way to handle it. You could hold that side?

Dean: Un, huh.

Nixon: It would seem to me that would be worthwhile.

At a later point, with Haldeman in on the conversation, Nixon appeared ready to smooth over the reasons for the break-in of the Los Angeles office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Nixon: National security. We had to get information for national security grounds.

Dean: Then the question is, why didn't the CIA do it or why didn't the FBI do it?

Nixon: Because we had to do it on a confidential basis.

Haldeman: Because we were checking them.

Nixon: Neither could be trusted.

In the end, the meetings adjourned with essentially nothing decided.

The text of the tape recordings is littered with secretarial notations of deleted expletives and character descriptions, apparently in an effort to clean up some White House language for public consumption. Most of the deletions are from Nixon's dialogue, but his aides apparently were casual about using profanity in his presence.

Informality appeared to be the norm in conversations among Nixon and his close aides. Rarely did anyone address him as "Sir" or "Mr. President."

Early in the history of the scandal, Nixon and his aides appear confused by the enormity of the outcry over the bugging of the Democratic National Committee. From the Sept. 15, 1972 tape:

Haldeman: Isn't that ridiculous—this silly thing.

Nixon: Yes (Expletive deleted). (Sen. Barry) Goldwater put it in context when he said "(expletive deleted) everybody bugs everybody else. You know that."

Dean: That was priceless.

Nixon: It happens to be totally true.

On the other hand, Nixon was dismayed at some of the political dirty tricks played by Donald Segretti on Democratic presidential candidates. Segretti later was convicted in connection with those dirty tricks.

Glenn Joins Impeachment Backers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Democratic U.S. Senate candidate John Glenn Tuesday for the first time called for impeachment of President Nixon. He said Nixon's refusal to comply with a congressional subpoena was sufficient grounds for such action.

Glenn told newsmen in Cincinnati that if he were a member of the House Judiciary Committee he would "vote impeachment on this basis" because of Nixon's "sheer arrogance" in providing partial transcripts instead of the subpoenaed tapes.

Accompanied by former professional football star Rosey Grier during his campaign stop in the Queen City, the former astronaut suggested the committee give Nixon 10 days to "produce the evidence or be impeached."

Glenn previously had said he would not take a stand on impeachment until all the evidence was in on the matter.

Glenn said Tuesday he did not agree with suggestions by Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, his opponent for the Senate nomination, that Nixon resign. "I'm afraid that with resignation much surrounding Watergate would continue to be covered up," Glenn said. "Resignation might be used as a coverup itself."

Metzenbaum, campaigning in Columbus Tuesday night, repeated the suggestion, saying "Nixon should resign and get it over with."

Metzenbaum attended a rally in a predominantly black section of the city and told the gathering, "You were with me when things weren't going so well. They've been picking up lately."

He referred to a statewide poll conducted by a newspaper that indicated he was leading Glenn by 44 per cent to 38 per cent.

Metzenbaum also repeated his charge that the former Marine Corps colonel didn't vote until he was 37 years old.

Asked later by a newsmen about the charge, Metzenbaum cited news reports in the past about Glenn's voting record, but admitted there was no evidence to prove or disprove the claim.

Big Wage, Price Increases Battled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans will demand new price controls if the country's high inflation rate isn't held in check, President Nixon has warned business leaders.

He said the ending of his widely discredited controls program Tuesday creates a "great responsibility" for both business and labor leaders to use restraint in setting future wages and prices.

"If the fires of inflation continue burning too strongly, the demand for controls will come up again," Nixon told 3,200 businessmen and their wives at a U.S. Chamber of Commerce banquet Tuesday night.

The White House was scheduled to release a new statement on the economy today.

The President, who did not mention Watergate in his 25-minute speech, was applauded warmly and enthusiastically. His wife, Pat, was by his side.

Nixon revealed he will announce next week new measures intended to help the slumping housing industry, which he said is one of the few areas of the economy where "the government can play a significant role."

But he said he preferred that government policies to control inflation be confined to responsible fiscal and monetary policies.

"The major answer to inflation is more production," he added.

But even as the President was urging restraint in future price increases, the nation's largest steel company, U.S. Steel Corp., said it will have to increase prices despite an 80 per cent increase in profits in the first quarter of 1974.

Edgar B. Speer, U.S. Steel chairman, said the increases will be necessary to finance future expansion. He cited pressures from rising costs of raw materials and the cost of the new wage agreement.

Wage and price controls expired at midnight Tuesday for all except the oil industry.

Meanwhile, about 4.2 million workers are due for immediate pay hikes of up to $16 a week under the new minimum wage law that takes effect today, moving the hourly rate to $2.30 over the next two years.

Before that, Glenn planned to campaign in Dayton and Metzenbaum was to tour a manufacturing plant in Columbus before flying to Washington for a Senate vote.

Traffic Deaths Decline Again

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council says lower speed limits figured significantly in a continuing decline in traffic deaths on the nation's highways during March.

Traffic deaths dropped 25 per cent in March, as they did in January and February after highway speed limits were lowered to 55 miles per hour to conserve gasoline because of the energy crisis, Council President Vincent Tofany said Tuesday.

About 3,200 persons died in March, compared with 4,320 in March 1973, he said. In the first three months of 1974 there were 8,920 fatalities, down from 11,880 last year, he added.

"We think that lower driving speeds have been an important factor in this reduction," Tofany said. "We hope that government authorities will examine these factors carefully before any moves are made to raise the speed limits."

Tofany said that if the trend keeps up for the rest of the year, traffic deaths would be reduced by 14,000 persons from last year's toll of 55,600. Such a reduction would place the fatality toll at the 1963 level.

Disabling injuries and traffic accident costs also declined sharply during the first three months of 1974, he said.

Tofany said there were about 320,000 disabling injuries in the first three months of 1974, compared with 420,000 in the same period last year. The cost of traffic deaths and injuries declined from $3.3 billion to $2.9 billion, he added.

Tofany said he fears that as the gasoline shortage eases, public pressure might bring back higher speed limits.

"Your chances of dying in a crash increase dramatically over 50 miles per hour," he said, adding that the chance of survival is four times as great at 50 as at 70.

appear before the prosecutor and a grand jury.

So far as is known only Nixon and Haldeman, among those quoted in the transcripts, knew that the conversations were being tape recorded.

The President offered to let the two senior members of the Judiciary Committee, chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., and Rep. Edward Hutchinson, R-Mich., listen to the tapes to verify that the transcripts contained all relevant Watergate material.

But the President gave the committee no role in saying which matters were of primary concern to it. However, after party caucuses Tuesday, committee members ap-

Frustration, Confusion Show In Tape Transcripts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is looking to the American people for vindication in Watergate, while House impeachment investigators meet tonight to decide their next move in the quest for White House evidence.

A majority of the House Judiciary Committee evidently was dissatisfied with the edited White House transcripts the President delivered Tuesday in lieu of tapes of 42 presidential conversations the committee had subpoenaed.

The panel's Democratic majority planned to stop short of a demand for enforcement of the subpoena in favor of seeking bipartisan support for a statement declaring Nixon had failed to comply with it.

It was clear from the time Nixon disclosed his transcript plan Monday night that the support he sought was beyond the Capitol; that his goal was to persuade the American public that he had no advance knowledge of the Watergate break-in or the cover-up and that he was providing investigators with the full story of his role.

But, even as the transcripts were delivered to the committee, the President's lawyers were making plans to go to court Thursday to seek to quash a subpoena issued at the request of special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Jaworski is seeking tapes and documents relating to 64 presidential conversations he says are needed as evidence for prosecution and defense in the forthcoming Watergate coverup trial.

In addition, the Judiciary Committee has requested, by letter, still other tapes covering the Watergate cover-up, the ITT antitrust settlement and Nixon campaign contributions from the dairy industry.

For all the 1,308 blue-bound pages of presidential transcripts, uncertainties remained about what the President knew, and when, and what he intended to be done. It was, as Nixon's lawyers and the President himself had said, a document marked by ambiguities.

The words that were spoken created a picture of a President feeling increasingly embattled and frustrated by a scandal, the disclosure of which he considered inevitable but which he hoped to control.

And they showed Nixon considering many alternatives, including the payment of hush money to the original Watergate conspirators.

The transcripts covered conversations between Sept. 15, 1972, and April 27, 1973.

But the critical meetings were these:

—Sept. 15, 1972, the day indictments were returned in the Watergate break-in case. Nixon met with White House counsel John W. Dean III, later to become the President's chief accuser before the Senate Watergate committee.

—March 17, 1973, the day the President learned that members of the ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's negotiations to separate Israeli and Syrian troops are likely to take longer than his successful Egyptian-Israeli shuttle diplomacy and the outlook is "very uncertain," says a senior aide.

Democratic U.S. Senate candidate John Glenn Tuesday for the first time called for impeachment of President Nixon. He said Nixon's refusal to comply with a congressional subpoena was sufficient grounds for such action.

He referred to a statewide poll conducted by a newspaper that indicated he was leading Glenn by 44 per cent to 38 per cent.

Metzenbaum also repeated his charge that the former Marine Corps colonel didn't vote until he was 37 years old.

Asked later by a newsmen about the charge, Metzenbaum cited news reports in the past about Glenn's voting record, but admitted there was no evidence to prove or disprove the claim.

Glenn's campaign people have denied the charge and pointed out that there was no voter registration in Muskingum County, where Glenn maintained a voting residence, until 1958.

Also asked about his position on the abortion issue, Metzenbaum said, "If the matter comes up before the legislature I will decide on it."

Pressed for his personal views on the controversial issue, Metzenbaum told the reporter, "You can ask me anything you want, but it doesn't mean you'll get an answer."

Earlier Tuesday, Metzenbaum toured Dayton's black wards escorted by the city's most powerful black vote-getter, state Rep. C. J. McLin Jr.

He said his heavy activity in black areas of Akron, Cleveland, Columbus and Dayton was basic in his push to get out what he believes is the critical black vote.

A heavy schedule of campaigning was on tap today, capped by another televised debate by Metzenbaum and Glenn tonight in Cincinnati.

Before that, Glenn planned to campaign in Dayton and Metzenbaum was to tour a manufacturing plant in Columbus before flying to Washington for a Senate vote.

A majority of the House Judiciary Committee evidently was dissatisfied with the edited White House transcripts the President delivered Tuesday in lieu of tapes of 42 presidential conversations the committee had subpoenaed.

The panel's Democratic majority planned to stop short of a demand for enforcement of the subpoena in favor of seeking bipartisan support for a statement declaring Nixon had failed to comply with it.

It was clear from the time Nixon disclosed his transcript plan Monday night that the support he sought was beyond the Capitol; that his goal was to persuade the American public that he had no advance knowledge of the Watergate break-in or the cover-up and that he was providing investigators with the full story of his role.

But, even as the transcripts were delivered to the committee, the President's lawyers were making plans to go to court Thursday to seek to quash a subpoena issued at the request of special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Jaworski is seeking tapes and documents relating to 64 presidential conversations he says are needed as evidence for prosecution and defense in the forthcoming Watergate coverup trial.

In addition, the Judiciary Committee has requested, by letter, still other tapes covering the Watergate cover-up, the ITT antitrust settlement and Nixon campaign contributions from the dairy industry.

For all the 1,308 blue-bound pages of presidential transcripts, uncertainties remained about what the President knew, and when, and what he intended to be done. It was, as Nixon's lawyers and the President himself had said, a document marked by ambiguities.

The words that were spoken created a picture of a President feeling increasingly embattled and frustrated by a scandal, the disclosure of which he considered inevitable but which he hoped to control.

And they showed Nixon considering many alternatives, including the payment of hush money to the original Watergate conspirators.

The transcripts covered conversations between Sept. 15, 1972, and April 27, 1973.

But the critical meetings were these:

—Sept. 15, 1972, the day indictments were returned in the Watergate break-in case. Nixon met with White House counsel John W. Dean III, later to become the President's chief accuser before the Senate Watergate committee.

—March 17, 1973, the day the President learned that members of the White House plumbers unit, set up to trace leaks of classified information, had engineered the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

—March 21, 1973, the day the President said Dean first told him about the Watergate coverup. Numerous alternatives including meeting demands for hush money were considered by the President, Dean and White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

—April 14, 1973, the day of a rambling discussion of Watergate by the President, Haldeman and Ehrlichman during which they talked about the need to fire Dean and to convince former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell to

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices held steady today in the face of rising interest rates and the end of price controls.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, down fractionally in early trading, stood at 838.70 up 1.95 at noon, and advances held a small lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said investors were encouraged that a price bulge had not materialized immediately after the end of price controls—only copper prices seemed to rise substantially.

But trading remained light as most investors decided to sit out another period of change rather than commit themselves.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index posted a gain of .25 to 89.96 at noon.

CBC Dean Discusses Canadian, U.S. Ties

KIWANIS SPEAKER—Dave Scheible, left, introduced The Rev. George Blackstone, Academic Dean, Circleville Bible College, as the guest speaker at Kiwanis meeting, Monday. Blackstone discussed the ties between Canada and the United States.

The Rev. George Blackstone, Academic Dean, Circleville Bible College, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis meeting 6:30 p.m. Monday. Born in Toronto, Canada, Blackstone discussed Canada's relationship to the United States. He has lived in Circleville the past 13 years.

Noting the area of the two countries are nearly the same, Canada has only one-tenth of the population of the United States. Canada is a bilingual country, consisting of French and English.

People in British Columbia, up to a few years ago, used to drive on the left side of the road, commented the CBC dean.

Blackstone stated that there are three groups of people in Canada. The Pro French, who want to secede from Canada. Pro Canadians, those who want to isolate from the United States and the Pro Americans, who want to become part of the United States.

Officers elected for the 1974-75 year were: Charles Reid, president; Ray Cundiff, vice president; Gene Dowler, treasurer; Maynard Burns, Mike Wilson, John Raterman and Dave Gillespie, Board of Directors.

Frustration . . .

peared determined to avoid a partisan split over what many considered a futile effort to force the President to comply with the subpoena.

Instead, the Democrats, who hold a 21-17 majority, appeared ready to propose a statement that Nixon had failed to comply with the subpoena, which might be put forth in the future as part of a bill of impeachment.

In his speech Monday night, the President had said the transcripts would "provide grist for many sensational stories in the press. Parts will seem contradictory with one another, and parts will be in conflict with some of the testimony given in the Senate Watergate committee hearings."

He also noted that parts "will embarrass me and those whom I talked with."

The transcripts proved him accurate in all those predictions.

There were frequent parenthetical notes that portions were "unintelligible" or "inaudible" and many places were marked "expletive deleted."

On occasion, the President's anger and contempt flashes out from the transcripts. At other times, he displays compassion and loyalty toward beleaguered staff members and such former close friends as John Mitchell.

Here, from the vast volume, are some of the areas covered:

DEAN CONFLICTS

Dean told the Watergate committee that on Sept. 15, Nixon congratulated him on doing a good job, "and the President was pleased that the case had stopped with (G. Gordon) Liddy."

The transcript shows Nixon telling Dean, "The way you have handled all this seems to me has been very skillful, putting your fingers in the leaks that have sprung here and sprung there."

Nixon's lawyers said the congratulations were offered "in the context not of a criminal plot to obstruct justice as Dean alleges," but rather "in the context of the politics of the matter, such as civil suits, counter-suits, Democratic efforts to exploit Watergate as a political issue and the like."

MITCHELL'S INVOLVEMENT

A close friend and adviser to the President throughout his first administration, Mitchell had early been linked to Watergate. On April 14, 1973, Nixon, Haldeman and Ehrlichman discussed the scandal.

Ehrlichman suggested somebody ought to go to New York to tell Mitchell "the jig is up. And the President strongly feels that the only way that this thing can end up even a little plus for the administration and for the presidency and preserve some thread is for you to go in and voluntarily make a statement."

Ehrlichman wanted Mitchell to admit being "both morally and legally responsible."

But moving against his old friend bothered the President and he acknowledged he was putting it off.

"We're still not doing anything," he said.

Ehrlichman: "Right." Nixon: "That's exactly right. The law and order. That's the way I am. You know it's a pain for me to do it—the Mitchell thing is damn painful."

ELLSBERG BREAK-IN

On March 17, Dean told the President that Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy had been working for Ehrlichman.

Dean: "They—these fellows had to be some idiots as we've learned after the fact. They went out and went into Dr. Ellsberg's doctor's office . . ."

Nixon: "What in the world—what in the name of God was Ehrlichman having something (unintelligible) in the Ellsberg (unintelligible)?"

Dean: "They were trying to— this was part of an operation that—in connection with the Pentagon Papers. They were—the whole thing—they wanted to get Ellsberg's psychiatric records for some reason. I don't know."

Nixon: "This is the first I ever heard of this."

HALDEMAN-EHRLLICHMAN resignations

In a series of conversations with the President in mid-April, assistant Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen, head of the Justice Department Criminal Division, told the President he thought Haldeman and Ehrlichman should resign.

On April 16, the President told Petersen, "Let me tell you they should resign in my view if they get splashed with this. Now the point is, is the timing. I think that it's, I want to get your advice on it, I think it would be really hanging the guy before something goes in if I say look you guys resign . . ."

He also told Petersen that he had asked Dean that morning to submit his resignation.

Eleven days later, Petersen and Nixon again discussed the investigation and the President said "if your prosecutors believe that they have got to give Dean immunity, in whole or in part, in order to get the damned case, do it."

Then later . . .

Nixon: "All right. We have got the immunity problem resolved. Do it. Dean if you need to, but boy, I am telling you—there ain't going to be any blackmail."

Thief Pilfers Billfold, $35

Leona Waugh, 619 Elm Ave., notified Circleville Police someone took her billfold, 5:45 p.m. Tuesday, from the laundry on East Franklin Street.

According to the report taken by Patrolman Ray Dulin, the billfold was under a sack when it was removed. It contained $35 and driver's license.

MS Society Views Film

The Pickaway County Unit of the Greater Cincinnati Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, held a meeting recently in the home of Mrs. Dorothy McPherson, chairman, 393 Maumee Drive.

A film strip was shown and explained by Ann Parker, executive director. The 22 minute film is available for public viewing by any interested organization and pertains to MS and what it is all about. Speakers are also available.

It was noted by Nancy Roth, area representative, that patient services are now available in Pickaway County and include loan of hospital equipment such as wheelchairs and walkers, self help literature for the patient and family, assistance in contacting other sources of help for MS families, patients socials and recreation, counseling and patient house visits.

Approximately 500,000 Americans between the ages of 20 and 40 suffer from MS and related diseases. As of yet there is no known cure, but with continuing research there is hope of a breakthrough.

Also attending the meeting were Earl Carroll, Diane Berger, Sue Schneider and Sharon Middaugh. Anyone desiring more information please contact Mrs. Nancy Roth, 474-4579 or Mrs. Dorothy McPherson, 474-5121.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices held steady today in the face of rising interest rates and the end of price controls.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, down fractionally in early trading, stood at 838.70 up 1.95 at noon, and advances held a small lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said investors were encouraged that a price bulge had not materialized immediately after the end of price controls—only copper prices seemed to rise substantially. But trading remained light as most investors decided to sit out another period of change rather than commit themselves.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index posted a gain of .25 to 89.96 at noon.

CBC Dean Discusses Canadian, U.S. Ties

KIWANIS SPEAKER—Dave Scheible, left, introduced The Rev. George Blackstone, Academic Dean, Circleville Bible College, as the guest speaker at Kiwanis meeting, Monday. Blackstone discussed the ties between Canada and the United States.

The Rev. George Blackstone, Academic Dean, Circleville Bible College, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis meeting 6:30 p.m. Monday. Born in Toronto, Canada, Blackstone discussed Canada's relationship to the United States. He has lived in Circleville the past 13 years.

Noting the area of the two countries are nearly the same, Canada has only one-tenth of the population of the United States. Canada is a bilingual country, consisting of French and English.

People in British Columbia, up to a few years ago, used to drive on the left side of the road, commented the CBC dean.

Blackstone stated that there are three groups of people in Canada. The Pro French, who want to secede from Canada. Pro Canadians, those who want to isolate from the United States and the Pro Americans, who want to become part of the United States.

Officers elected for the 1974-75 year were: Charles Reid, president; Ray Cundiff, vice president; Gene Dowler, treasurer; Maynard Burns, Mike Wilson, John Raterman and Dave Gillespie, Board of Directors.

Frustration . . .

peared determined to avoid a partisan split over what many considered a futile effort to force the President to comply with the subpoena.

Instead, the Democrats, who hold a 21-17 majority, appeared ready to propose a statement that Nixon had failed to comply with the subpoena, which might be put forth in the future as part of a bill of impeachment.

In his speech Monday night, the President had said the transcripts would "provide grist for many sensational stories in the press. Parts will seem contradictory with one another, and parts will be in conflict with some of the testimony given in the Senate Watergate committee hearings."

He also noted that parts "will embarrass me and those whom I talked with."

The transcripts proved him accurate in all those predictions. There were frequent parenthetical notes that portions were "unintelligible" or "inaudible" and many places were marked "expletive deleted."

On occasion, the President's anger and contempt flashes out from the transcripts. At other times, he displays compassion and loyalty toward beleaguered staff members and such former close friends as John Mitchell.

Here, from the vast volume, are some of the areas covered:

DEAN CONFLICTS

Dean told the Watergate committee that on Sept. 15, Nixon congratulated him on doing a good job, "and the President was pleased that the case had stopped with (G. Gordon) Liddy."

The transcript shows Nixon telling Dean, "The way you have handled all this seems to me has been very skillful, putting your fingers in the leaks that have sprung here and sprung there."

Nixon's lawyers said the congratulations were offered "in the context not of a criminal plot to obstruct justice as Dean alleges," but rather "in the context of the politics of the matter, such as civil suits, counter-suits, Democratic efforts to exploit Watergate as a political issue and the like."

MITCHELL'S INVOLVEMENT
A close friend and adviser to the President throughout his first administration, Mitchell had early been linked to Watergate. On April 14, 1973, Nixon, Haldeman and Ehrlichman discussed the scandal.

Ehrlichman suggested somebody ought to go to New York to tell Mitchell "the jig is up. And the President strongly feels that the only way that this thing can end up even a little plus for the administration and for the presidency and preserve some thread is for you to go in and voluntarily make a statement."

Ehrlichman wanted Mitchell to admit being "both morally and legally responsible."

But moving against his old friend

bothered the President and he acknowledged he was putting it off.

"We're still not doing anything," he said.

Ehrlichman: "Right."
Nixon: "That's exactly right. The law and order. That's the way I am. You know it's a pain for me to do it—the Mitchell thing is damn painful."

ELLSBERG BREAK-IN
On March 17, Dean told the President that Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy had been working for Ehrlichman.

Dean: "They—these fellows had to be some idiots as we've learned after the fact. They went out and went into Dr. Ellsberg's doctor's office . . ."

Nixon: "What in the world—what in the name of God was Ehrlichman having something (unintelligible) in the Ellsberg (unintelligible)?"

Dean: "They were trying to—this was part of an operation that—in connection with the Pentagon Papers. They were—the whole thing—they wanted to get Ellsberg's psychiatric records for some reason. I don't know."

Nixon: "This is the first I ever heard of this."

HALDEMAN-EHRICHMAN resignations

In a series of conversations with the President in mid-April, assistant Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen, head of the Justice Department Criminal Division, told the President he thought Haldeman and Ehrlichman should resign.

On April 16, the President told Petersen, "Let me tell you they should resign in my view if they get splashed with this. Now the point is, is the timing. I think that it's, I want to get your advice on it, I think it would be really hanging the guy before something goes in if I say look you guys resign . . ."

He also told Petersen that he had asked Dean that morning to submit his resignation.

Eleven days later, Petersen and Nixon again discussed the investigation and the President said "if your prosecutors believe that they have got to give Dean immunity, in whole or in part, in order to get the damned case, do it."

Then later . . .
Nixon: "All right. We have got the immunity problem resolved. Do it. Dean if you need to, but boy, I am telling you—there ain't going to be any blackmail."

MS Society Views Film

The Pickaway County Unit of the Greater Cincinnati Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, held a meeting recently in the home of Mrs. Dorothy McPherson, chairman, 393 Maumee Drive.

A film strip was shown and explained by Ann Parker, executive director. The 22 minute film is available for public viewing by any interested organization and pertains to MS and what it is all about. Speakers are also available.

It was noted by Nancy Roth, area representative, that patient services are now available in Pickaway County and include loan of hospital equipment such as wheelchairs and walkers, self help literature for the patient and family assistance in contacting other sources of help for MS families, patients socials and recreation, counseling and patient house visits.

Multiple sclerosis is a neurological disease — a disease of the central nervous system — the brain and spinal cord. It is not a mental disease, nor is it contagious. Approximately 500,000 Americans between the ages of 20 and 40 suffer from MS and related diseases. As of yet there is no known cure, but with continuing research there is hope of a breakthrough.

Also attending the meeting were Earl Carroll, Diane Berger, Sue Schneider and Sharon Middaugh. Anyone desiring more information please contact Mrs. Nancy Roth, 474-4579 or Mrs. Dorothy McPherson, 474-5121.

A Page Of Opinion

Gobbledygook Crisis

Obfuscation long has been a tool of the bureaucrat who wishes to exude an aura of self-importance without subjecting his views to rational critique or even basic understanding. The art of stringing endless high-sounding phrases together to hide a vacuum of thought is not necessarily limited to the public servant. A group of California English teachers say the malady has become nationwide, and they identify it with a name—the “gobbledygook crisis.”

After two years of studying everyday usage of the English language, the teachers have concluded that while only the military could describe a shovel as a “combat emplacement displacer,” the language has been widely infiltrated by equally useless verbiage.

Riding The Storm

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Vice President Gerald Ford says he's appalled by the feeling around the White House that he's undercutting the President. No wonder he feels that way. All he's done is pick his cabinet and announce that Ronald Ziegler doesn't have Chiang Kai-shek's chance of being retained as his White House press secretary. The President certainly has a lot of thin-skinned people around him. Way down deep, Ford supports the President with all the passion and loyalty with which the President supported Ford's predecessor.

Two years and more short of the Democratic National Convention, Sen. Ted Kennedy is beginning to slip in the Harris Poll.

Harris must have confined his poll to men and women over 25. Most voters below that age think Chappaquiddick was an Indian chief. While Kennedy's slippage is showing, the prospects of other Democrats are not consequently soaring. Given an interesting candidate, the Democrats have their greatest opportunity to capture the White House since Franklin Delano Roosevelt emerged as the inevitable victor over Depression-ridden and unpopular Herbert Hoover. But, as of now, the Democrats are suffering from a malady best described by noted historian Garry Schumacher of the San Francisco Giants in the course of explaining why Napoleon blew the duke at Waterloo. “Bad bench,” Garry diagnosed.

Good news from Dr. Edward G. Toomey, Concord (Mass.) Medical Center: “It occurred to me that you might be interested in knowing about the launching or, rather, departure of a former U.S. Navy hospital ship, scheduled for July 4, 1976, from Boston Harbor, to mark in a meaningful medical way our nation's bicentennial. The ship will be called the ‘Spirit of American Medicine.’ More than 200 physicians and 150 para-medical personnel will serve aboard on her first voyage, to provide medical education and medical relief in Guatemala, Haiti and Brazil. The ship once was the U.S.S. Tranquility, stationed off Vietnam. It is being equipped for this new project at the James River berth near Fort Eustis, Va.

“On a recent visit to the West Indies aboard one of the world's last great ships, the France, I was able to obtain pledges from 35 crew members to join with the 50 American Maritime Union crew members who have already pledged to staff the ‘Spirit of American Medicine’ without stipend during her initial 6-week voyage. It has the wholehearted support of U.S. Maritime Commission Director Helen D. Bentley. “It will be a private, non-profit, voluntary, citizen-inspired and financed effort . . .” And (as the good ship has proved so ably) living proof that we can't be all bad. If the last batch of Skylab astronauts were as well-represented as, say, Lee Elder is by Lincoln Warden, recently retired golf editor of the New York Times (Elder will be the first black to play in the Masters at Augusta, Ga.), they'd be putting in for a monumental finder's fee. Seems that crewmen Lt. Col. Gerald P. Carr, USMC, Col. William R. Pogue, USAF, and Dr. Edward G. Gibson, a civilian scientist just happened to discover from way up there that there's a more or less untapped copper vein in northern Nevada that could pay for most, or more, of the whole blinking Skylab project. That would be more than $2,000,000,000, the cost,

Racial Mess

By JIM BISHOP

It is 20 years since the United States Supreme Court decided that, in the relationship of Negroes and Caucasians, “separate but equal facilities” are unconstitutional. In retrospect, there seemed to be a moment of silence. Then America became convulsed in flames.

The enmity lasted much longer than the Civil War. This one flickers and subsides like an old fire, but the ashes are always hot. The years tick by slowly, and the black man has attained equality under law. In offices and hospitals and scientific laboratories, he earns more money and more respect than before.

But when the sun goes down, the Negro is on one side of the railroad track and the white man is on the other. He can buy a house in a white area, but he must choose carefully or his children are going to watch youngsters play from behind a fence.

We have a token black on the Supreme Court. There are mayors and other public officials elected by “white folks.” Television hires blacks to sell deodorants and shampoos. Whites are driven by bus to distant black schools, and vice versa.

America, with 190 million Caucasians and 23 million Negroes, is a homogenized family. Or is it? When the great court decision was first handed down, William Randolph Hearst asked Burris Jenkins, a great artist, and me to hire a car and tour the South. We paused at all crossroads in a great swing through Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, the Carolinas and Virginia.

Jenkins drew black faces and white faces with the same pencil. I wrote everything the white man said, and the Negro, too. To summarize, neither side trusted the other. Years later, I researched a comprehensive biography on Martin Luther King, Jr. Same result.

Lynching is gone. White Citizens Councils are extinct. The Ku Klux Klan is sadistic history. A newspaper editor in Richmond told me that almost all Negroes are laden with venereal incidentally, of creating the monstrous A-bomb for which we're still being blamed.

A “strike” of that size could resurrect the West economically . . . and even bring back Howard Hughes.

A finder's fee to Messrs. Carr, Pogue and Gibson would amount under normal conditions to about $2,000,000. But since most of Nevada is owned by the U.S. government — which doesn't have a nickel slot machine to its name — the copper bonanza probably will prove to be imbedded in government soil. The astronauts work for the same organization, alas, and thus will be awarded only life-sized statues of, say Wernher von Braun, who boosted them up there.

disease. All of that is gone with the wind. Progress has been made. I would be cynical and cruel to state that we have attained brotherhood. We tolerate each other. And both sides have learned to mend their manners. Few Southern bartenders serve a black man and smash the empty glass against a wall.

The wrongs are not one-sided. Behind Martin Luther King, Jr., the marchers broke ranks, smashed windows, pillaged and set fires. He preached peace, but he was also the daddy of those long, hot summers. In Chicago, Jesse Jackson helped his people by threatening black boycotts of stores, banks, insurance companies and small businesses.

It worked. But no one in Chicago wrote a story about the poor whites who lost their jobs. In Watts, Detroit and Newark, those who could not build destroyed by fire. It's a two-sided mess.

We reserved the deepest cruelties for our children — black and white. To achieve balance in schools, we jammed black children on buses to sit behind desks in an alien white school. We did the same to white youngsters.

All it did was to prove that Negro schools were, roughly, about 18 months behind white ones in any given grade. Negro boys and girls, good students in their own schools, were crushed trying to keep up with the simpering pale faces around them.

Some things cannot be achieved on order. Formal education is one. Black children weren't retarded; their schools were. It is too late for our generation to achieve brotherhood. If we had been wise, we could have gentled our children toward it.

Most of us who are white do not like to think that the Negroes have been American longer than we. Their ancestors arrived here as slaves 350 years ago. Most of my forebears arrived from Ireland in 1870.

Back in 1955 and 1956, I was lied to by many blacks. They said everything was fine. Some of them sat behind kerosene lamps in shacks surrounded by tall corn. They wanted equality, yes. But they wanted acceptance, too. They have not been accepted. Nor will I live to see it come to pass.

Ironically, when many of us were trying to erase racism, young black militants stopped straightening their hair and began to grow “Afros.” Some devised terrorist groups like the Black Panthers. The decision of May, 1954, said that all men are truly equal. But some will always think they are more equal than others . . .

Bonus Commission Seeks Ex-POWs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Vietnam Veterans Bonus Commission is looking for eligible former prisoners of war.

“The only criterion ex-POW's must meet to qualify for a special bonus of $1,000 is proof of one full year of Ohio residency immediately prior to entering service during the compensable period of the Vietnam conflict,” said John W. Bush, the commission's director. Bush said a special effort is being made to find the eligible ex-Pow's.

Nearly 15 million acres of United States wildlife areas can be traveled only on foot or horseback.

Speaking Of Your Health

A heart attack can be a shattering emotional experience. No social, economic or intellectual group is free from the sudden impact of such a medical catastrophe.

A sudden, precipitous change occurs in a single moment when one is stricken. A forceful, dynamic personality is immediately converted into an invalid.

The tireless worker who cannot possibly spare an hour or a weekend for relaxation finds himself in a hospital with six weeks of strict bedrest. The firm rules laid down by the doctor call for a strict diet, no smoking, no telephones, no visitors.

For one in any occupation it comes as an astonishing surprise that his office functions miraculously well without his indispensable presence.

How much wiser it is to recognize that emotional tension, smoking, fatigue, excess weight, untreated high blood pressure and immoderate diets lay the groundwork for possible trouble.

Sane, sensible re-evaluation of patterns of living can often avoid the cataclysmic experience of a heart attack. People in all industries indulge themselves in the belief that only their occupation is filled with special tension. They almost enjoy the strange distinction that their business is the only “ulcer-producing” business.

Men in executive positions who live in a world of self-imposed deadlines learn that waiters, garbage collectors, taxi drivers, and others in less prestigious occupations also create their own “deadlines.”

For years physicians have recognized the relationship between emotional tension and the symptoms their patients present.

The unremitting pressure of work coupled with the overtones of psychological stress play havoc with the productivity and serviceability of thousands of people in every area of family and community life.

Emotional inventories should be taken at regular intervals. Only in this way can the stockpile of emotional reserve be calculated for maximum benefit to the individual.

No College Expansion Needed For Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A citizens' task force on higher education recommended today that no new two-year or four-year colleges be established in Ohio.

The 46-page document submitted to the state Board of Regents and the legislature further suggests that no existing two-year schools be expanded into four-year facilities.

The full report was to be made available this afternoon, a spokeswoman for the group said. She said proposed projects with funds already appropriated are not affected by the report.

Probably another year of study will be done before recommendations are finalized, she said.

“On the basis of geography and current and projected enrollment trends, Ohio's system is complete,” the report states.

“The larger and more important

Venezuela To Take Over Ore Firms

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Venezuela's new government says it is going to nationalize the iron ore industry, owned by American companies, and will sharply reduce foreign investments in other companies.

President Carlos Andres Perez, who took office March 12, told Congress Monday night his government will revoke the iron ore concessions that expire in the year 2000. He gave no timetable but said: “We are taking them back now.”

Perez also said nothing about compensation.

The Orinoco Mining Co., a subsidiary of U.S. Steel, and Iron Mines Co., a subsidiary of Bethlehem Steel, run the Venezuelan industry. They produce 2.18 million tons of ore a month, and exports in 1973 totaled 23.1 million tons, with more than 13 million tons going to the United States.

Perez said foreign companies dealing in goods and services must sell 80 per cent of their stock to Venezuelan nationals within three years, in accordance with a decision of the six countries of the Andean Pact, a regional common market.

Among businesses that will be affected are the 14-store CADA chain of supermarkets, 50 per cent of which is owned by the Rockefeller family, and the Sears Roebuck chain.

Perez also pledged 5.25 per cent salary increases, mainly aimed at providing more income for the poorest workers; increased agricultural and industrial production and curbs on inflation.

issue now is to promote participation by all citizens, particularly students from low income families.”

The task force, created by Gov. John J. Gilligan, recommended an increase in maximum grants awarded to students under the Ohio Instructional Grants Program and an upward adjustment of the income ceiling to $15,000 for families eligible to participate in the program.

The report also suggested that private schools be awarded additional developmental funds for OIP students, specifically, $400 per student from a family with an income of less than $8,000 and $200 for those from families of $15,000 incomes or less.

The board of regents should modify its present formula for funding colleges and universities to help cover costs of admitting counseling and providing student services to parttime students, the report said.

Hopefully, it said, this will encourage more night time classes and services for older adults.

The report recommended against a consolidation of individual school trustees into a statewide higher educational system.

“To make it a super governing board through the elimination of boards of trustees would violate the ardent desire of Ohioans to avoid a monolithic, centralized bureaucracy with a ‘Columbus knows best’ philosophy,” the report said.

The report said state funding of higher education should be increased substantially, although it didn't recommend a dollar figure. It pointed out that Ohio ranks 34th among the states in the percentage of state monies that go to support colleges and universities.

Also, the report called for a freeze of college costs during the first two years, but said fees should be higher the remaining two years because of more costly teaching materials and instructors.

Negotiations Slated In Ohio U Walkout

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Negotiations are scheduled to resume Thursday between student employees and administrators at Ohio University on selection of bargaining agents for student workers.

School officials prefer one union organization to represent the estimated 2,000 student workers, while Student Workers Union leaders wanted to divide employees into five bargaining units.

About 250 members of the SWU struck last week. When they ended the strike, OU President Claude Sowle agreed to an immediate five cent salary hike, a similar hike next year, and an election to determine a contract bargaining agent.

Gobbledygook Crisis

Obfuscation long has been a tool of the bureaucrat who wishes to exude an aura of self-importance without subjecting his views to rational critique or even basic understanding. The art of stringing endless high-sounding phrases together to hide a vacuum of thought is not necessarily limited to the public servant.

A group of California English teachers say the malady has become nationwide, and they identify it with a name—the "gobbledygook crisis."

After two years of studying everyday usage of the English language, the teachers have concluded that while only the military could describe a shovel as a "combat emplacement displacer," the language has been widely infiltrated by equally useless verbiage.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A heart attack can be a shattering emotional experience. No social, economic or intellectual group is free from the sudden impact of such a medical catastrophe.

A sudden, precipitous change occurs in a single moment when one is stricken. A forceful, dynamic personality is immediately converted into an invalid.

The tireless worker who cannot possibly spare an hour or a weekend for relaxation finds himself in a hospital with six weeks of strict bedrest. The firm rules laid down by the doctor call for a strict diet, no smoking, no telephones, no visitors.

For one in any occupation it comes as an astonishing surprise that his office functions miraculously well without his indispensable presence.

How much wiser it is to recognize that emotional tension, smoking, fatigue, excess weight, untreated high blood pressure and immoderate diets lay the groundwork for possible trouble.

Sane, sensible re-evaluation of patterns of living can often avoid the cataclysmic experience of a heart attack.

People in all industries indulge themselves in the belief that only their occupation is filled with special tension. They almost enjoy the strange distinction that their business is the only "ulcer-producing" business.

Men in executive positions who live in a world of self-imposed deadlines learn that waiters, garbage collectors, taxi drivers, and others in less prestigious occupations also create their own "deadlines."

For years physicians have recognized the relationship between emotional tension and the symptoms their patients present.

The unremitting pressure of work coupled with the overtones of psychological stress play havoc with the productivity and serviceability of thousands of people in every area of family and community life.

Emotional inventories should be taken at regular intervals. Only in this way can the stockpile of emotional reserve be calculated for maximum benefit to the individual.

bad.

If the last batch of Skylab astronauts were as well-represented as, say, Lee Elder is by Lincoln Warden, recently retired golf editor of the New York Times (Elder will be the first black to play in the Masters at Augusta, Ga.), they'd be putting in for a monumental finder's fee.

Seems that crewmen Lt. Col. Gerald P. Carr, USMC, Col. William R. Pogue, USAF, and Dr. Edward G. Gibson, a civilian scientist just happened to discover from 'way up there that there's a more or less untapped copper vein in northern Nevada that could pay for most, or more, of the whole blinking Skylab project. That would be more than $2,000,000,000, the cost, incidentally, of creating the monstrous A-bomb for which we're still being blamed.

A "strike" of that size could resurrect the West economically ... and even bring back Howard Hughes.

A finder's fee to Messrs. Carr, Pogue and Gibson would amount under normal conditions to about $2,000,000. But since most of Nevada is owned by the U.S. government — which doesn't have a nickel slot machine to its name — the copper bonanza probably will prove to be imbedded in government soil. The astronauts work for the same organization, alas, and thus will be awarded only life-sized statues of, say, Werner von Braun, who boosted them up there.

It is 20 years since the United States Supreme Court decided that, in the relationship of Negroes and Caucasians, "separate but equal facilities" are unconstitutional. In retrospect, there seemed to be a moment of silence. Then America became convulsed in flames.

The enmity lasted much longer than the Civil War. This one flickers and subsides like an old fire, but the ashes are always hot. The years tick by slowly, and the black man has attained equality under law. In offices and hospitals and scientific laboratories, he earns more money and more respect than before.

But when the sun goes down, the Negro is on one side of the railroad track and the white man is on the other. He can buy a house in a white area, but he must choose carefully or his children are going to watch youngsters play from behind a fence.

We have a token black on the Supreme Court. There are mayors and other public officials elected by "white folks." Television hires blacks to sell deodorants and shampoos. Whites are driven by bus to distant black schools, and vice versa.

America, with 190 million Caucasians and 23 million Negroes, is a homogenized family. Or is it? When the great court decision was first handed down, William Randolph Hearst asked Burtis Jenkins, a great artist, and me to hire a car and tour the South. We paused at all crossroads in a great swing through Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, the Carolinas and Virginia.

Jenkins drew black faces and white faces with the same pencil. I wrote everything the white man said, and the Negro, too. To summarize, neither side trusted the other. Years later, I researched a comprehensive biography on Martin Luther King, Jr. Same result.

Lynching is gone. White Citizens Councils are extinct. The Ku Klux Klan is sadistic history. A newspaper editor in Richmond told me that almost all Negroes are laden with venereal

The ship will be called the 'Spirit of American Medicine.' More than 200 physicians and 150 para-medical personnel will serve aboard on her first voyage, to provide medical education and medical relief in Guatemala, Haiti and Brazil. The ship once was the U.S.S. Tranquility, stationed off Vietnam. It is being equipped for this new project at the James River berth near Fort Eustis, Va.

"On a recent visit to the West Indies aboard one of the world's last great ships, the France, I was able to obtain pledges from 35 crew members to join with the 50 American Maritime Union crew members who have already pledged to staff the 'Spirit of American Medicine' without stipend during her initial 6-week voyage. It has the wholehearted support of U.S. Maritime Commission Director Helen D. Bentley.

All of that is gone with the wind. Progress has been made. I would be cynical and cruel to state that we have attained brotherhood. We tolerate each other. And both sides have learned to mend their manners. Few Southern bartenders serve a black man and smash the empty glass against a wall.

The wrongs are not one-sided. Behind Martin Luther King, Jr., the marchers broke ranks, smashed windows, pillaged and set fires. He preached peace, but he was also the daddy of those long, hot summers. In Chicago, Jesse Jackson helped his people by threatening black boycotts of stores, banks, insurance companies and small businesses.

It worked. But no one in Chicago wrote a story about the poor whites who lost their jobs. In Watts, Detroit and Newark, those who could not build destroyed by fire. It's a two-sided mess.

We reserved the deepest cruelties for our children — black and white. To achieve balance in schools, we jammed black children on buses to sit behind desks in an alien white school. We did the same to white youngsters.

All it did was to prove that Negro schools were, roughly, about 18 months behind white ones in any given grade. Negro boys and girls, good students in their own schools, were crushed trying to keep up with the simpering pale faces around them.

Some things cannot be achieved on order. Formal education is one. Black children weren't retarded; their schools were. It is too late for our generation to achieve brotherhood. If we had been wise, we could have gentled our children toward it.

Most of us who are white do not like to think that the Negroes have been American longer than we. Their ancestors arrived here as slaves 350 years ago. Most of my forebears arrived from Ireland in 1870.

Back in 1955 and 1956, I was lied to by many blacks. They said everything was fine. Some of them sat behind kerosene lamps in shacks surrounded by tall corn. They wanted equality, yes. But they wanted acceptance, too.

They have not been accepted. Nor will I live to see it come to pass. Ironically, when many of us were trying to erase racism, young black militants stopped straightening their hair and began to grow "afros." Some devised terrorist groups like the Black Panthers. The decision of May, 1954, said that all men are truly equal.

But some will always think they are more equal than others ...

Bonus Commission Seeks Ex-POWs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Vietnam Veterans Bonus Commission is looking for eligible former prisoners of war.

"The only criterion ex-POW's must meet to qualify for a special bonus of $1,000 is proof of one full year of Ohio residency immediately prior to entering service during the compensable period of the Vietnam conflict," said John W. Bush, the commission's director.

Bush said a special effort is being made to find the eligible ex-Pow's.

No College Expansion Needed For Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A citizens' task force on higher education recommended today that no new two-year or four-year colleges be established in Ohio.

The 46-page document submitted to the state Board of Regents and the legislature further suggests that no existing two-year schools be expanded into four-year facilities.

The full report was to be made available this afternoon, a spokeswoman for the group said. She said proposed projects with funds already appropriated are not affected by the report.

Probably another year of study will be done before recommendations are finalized, she said.

"On the basis of geography and current and projected enrollment trends, Ohio's system is complete," the report states.

Venezuela To Take Over Ore Firms

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Venezuela's new government says it is going to nationalize the iron ore industry, owned by American companies, and will sharply reduce foreign investments in other companies.

President Carlos Andres Perez, who took office March 12, told Congress Monday night his government will revoke the iron ore concessions that expire in the year 2000. He gave no timetable but said: "We are taking them back now."

Perez also said nothing about compensation.

The Orinoco Mining Co., a subsidiary of U.S. Steel, and Iron Mines Co., a subsidiary of Bethlehem Steel, run the Venezuelan industry. They produce 2.18 million tons of ore a month, and exports in 1973 totaled 23.1 million tons, with more than 13 million tons going to the United States.

Perez said foreign companies dealing in goods and services must sell 80 per cent of their stock to Venezuelan nationals within three years, in accordance with a decision of the six countries of the Andean Pact, a regional common market.

Among businesses that will be affected are the 14-store CADA chain of supermarkets, 50 per cent of which is owned by the Rockefeller family, and the Sears Roebuck chain.

Perez also pledged 5.25 per cent salary increases, mainly aimed at providing more income for the poorest workers; increased agricultural and industrial production and curbs on inflation.

State Solons Seeking More Space

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio lawmakers anticipate the day they can spread out a bit in the Capitol, making use of the space left behind by agencies moving into the new State Office Tower.

The Legislative Service Commission, made up of senators and representatives who oversee the General Assembly's research staff, is in no great hurry.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, suggested at a recent meeting that a committee should be named to study available facilities and recommend new space assignments. The commission agreed.

Biggest problem — or, at least, the one complained about the most — is lack of private office space for the 99 members of the House and the 33 senators.

Leaders generally have adequate quarters, but most members have only a desk in a small hole of a room, more often than not shared with another member or two.

"We shouldn't just start adding on rooms," Gray told the commission. "There should be adequate planning to make sure the space is used efficiently and to the best advantage."

Every non-legislative office except the offices of the governor and lieutenant governor leaves the Capitol. These include the secretary of state, who occupies four large rooms on the first floor and some basement space; the treasurer and the auditor, both with suites on the first floor and a series of scattered rooms in the basement.

Plans call for demolition of the Statehouse Annex, which currently houses the Attorney General and the Ohio Supreme Court. Both are moving into the $60 million, 41-floor tower.

The huge limestone blocks of the annex are being saved for repairs on the Capitol, built of matching blocks of Franklin County stone back in the Civil War era.

Members of the legislature are hopeful that each can have a private office and more secretarial help. They complain of the large volume of mail received at the Capitol instead of at home. Each House member has more than 100,000 constituents, each senator has three times that many.

The legislators say they need facilities to answer mail, receive telephone calls and meet with constituents—as well as a place to study legislation away from the confusion of public chambers where they often feel overly accessible to perennially talkative lobbyists and other favor seekers.

David Johnston, commission director, indicated he would name a committee of eight members to study Statehouse space utilization and facilities, Gray said.

Mayors Courts Dispute Flares

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Backers call it a bill whose time has arrived. Opponents contend it is a pork barrel attempt to usurp local authority.

What they are arguing over is a controversial measure that would abolish the some 500 mayors' courts in operation around the state.

Similar legislation has been introduced in every session of the legislature for the past dozen years, but the latest attempt is different.

The difference has backers of mayors' courts worried.

In an effort to get support for his bill, Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, had the measure amended to create 38 new judgeships throughout the state. Wilkowski admits it is pork barrel legislation.

"Frankly, without creating the new judgeships we would never have gotten the bill out of committee."

It came out — just barely — the day prior to the spring legislative recess. It is now in the House Rules Committee, which can schedule it for a floor vote.

Wilkowski said he hopes to get the bill out of the Rules Committee May 8 and have it on the House floor May 15, the day after the full legislature convenes.

"I have 45 votes counted for it and that is not including a single Republican vote," he said. "I think there are at least four Republicans who will vote for it."

Wilkowski said his main worry will be attendance after the primary.

"Some of the members who are defeated may not show up," he said. Wilkowski said in that case he would try to delay the May 15 floor vote.

The Toledo legislator said he believed the costs of the new judges would be worth the price. "You can't put a dollar figure on justice," he said, "and there is little justice in mayors' courts."

Wilkowski and his supporters believe mayors' courts are little more than revenue-producing sources for municipalities. Many mayors agreed. "It is the worst kind of justice," said Richard Broughton, former mayor of suburban Upper Arlington. "As a mayor I know. I practiced it."

Broughton said there always was a tendency for a mayor acting as a judge to back his policemen to the fullest, even if they could be wrong.

"They don't want to go against their police officers," he said, "because good ones are hard to find. You try to keep them happy."

Rep. Raymond Luther, R-1 Newark, opposes the bill, contending mayors' courts should remain.

"Nobody knows the problems a person may have like the mayor in a small community," he said. "Anybody who doesn't want to be tried by one can always transfer the case to a municipal court."

Wilkowski counted that few people know of that provision of the law and that few mayors inform them of that right.

Also, he said, many mayors' courts do not forward to the state information on traffic offenses for which a bond was forfeited. The violator, as a result, he said, doesn't get the points on his record.

Some Food Items Short For Shoppers During May

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government market experts say consumers will have no trouble finding relatively large supplies of meat at supermarkets next month but warn that a little searching will be needed to find canned vegetables and some other food items.

Generally, says the Agriculture Department, shoppers will have enough of most items to go around during May shopping trips. The preview of next month's grocery store situation was announced today in a "Food Marketing Alert" by the department.

The brief report was confined only to what USDA experts see as the food supply situation and did not include predictions on prices or over-all grocery costs.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz told a news conference last week, however, that consumers already have seen two-thirds of this year's food price increase occur. Prices are expected to go up "a bit more," he said, but not at the rate of recent months.

Butz said he thought an earlier prediction by his department that 1974 grocery store food prices most likely would go up 12 per cent from last year's average still was valid. The 1973 increase was 16 per cent from the previous 12-month average.

The alert report, distributed to large-volume food buyers such as hotels and restaurants, said beef and pork production in May is expected to exceed year-earlier levels. Broiler chickens, turkeys and eggs also are expected to be in larger supply.

"Canned vegetable supplies stay well below normal," the report said. "Early March canners' stocks of snapbeans, sweet corn and green peas . . . were 9 per cent less than a year earlier. Frozen vegetables, while moving faster than last year, are generally adequate."

Potatoes, which have soared to record prices the past season, will continue to be "lighter than normal" in store supplies, the report said.

Dairy products generally are expected to be ample, but nonfat dry milk may continue "fairly tight" next month, the report said.

"Dry bean and split pea supplies, in general, are inadequate because of strong demand and less output in 1973 than in 1972," the report said, but added: "May supplies of lentils for all uses are highest in four years for the month."

Chrysler Sets Price Boosts

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp., staggering from a 98 per cent drop in first-quarter profits, has boosted the average price of its cars $99. It predicts two more increases in the next five months.

Director John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council condemned the increase Chrysler announced on Monday as "irresponsible."

It puts Chrysler's average car and truck prices $335 above their December 1973 level.

The 2.9 per cent increase in sticker prices is Chrysler's third since Dec. 10, when the Cost of Living Council lifted controls on the auto industry in return for a promise from all auto makers except Chrysler to limit price hikes to $150 per car for the balance of the 1974 model year barring "unforeseen major economic events."

Chrysler Chairman Lynn Townsend said the new increase is justified because of skyrocketing costs, despite the commitment.

Dunlop fired back, "I view Mr. Townsend's statement as a display of consummate gall in announcing an interpretation of an agreement to which he chose not to be a party."

"While his competitors are participating in the effort through decontrol commitments to stabilize prices through the remainder of the 1974 model year, Mr. Townsend, in effect, now calls on his competitors to raise their prices in violation of their agreements with the council."

With worldwide vehicle sales off 14 per cent and U.S. car sales down 20.3 per cent from 1973, Chrysler reported sales of $2.7 billion, down 7 per cent from the first quarter of 1973.

The auto maker's North American operations recorded an $11.8 million deficit. Overseas operations showed a $13.4 million profit.

The firm said its first-quarter 1974 profits were $1.6 million, or three cents a share, compared with a record $89.8 million, or $1.71 a share, during the first three months of 1973.

Urge Signup By Farmers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Farmers employing one or more workers risk losing their farms if a worker is killed or injured and he is not covered under the Ohio workmen's compensation law, the president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation warned today.

Farmers employing one or more workers must be covered under workmen's compensation by July 1 under a new Ohio law, said Leonard Schnell.

Schnell urged farmers to sign up immediately rather than wait until the last minute and risk being caught without coverage.

Employers not covered are liable for an injured worker's medical costs, Schnell said. If he is covered, however, the state pays the bills, he added.

Schnell estimated that at least half—or about 55,000—of Ohio's farmers have not signed up for the protection, which costs $7.19 per $100 of payroll.

State Solons Seeking More Space

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio lawmakers anticipate the day they can spread out a bit in the Capitol, making use of the space left behind by agencies moving into the new State Office Tower.

The Legislative Service Commission, made up of senators and representatives who oversee the General Assembly's research staff, is in no great hurry.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, suggested at a recent meeting that a committee should be named to study available facilities and recommend new space assignments. The commission agreed.

Biggest problem — or, at least, the one complained about the most — is lack of private office space for the 99 members of the House and the 33 senators.

Leaders generally have adequate quarters, but most members have only a desk in a small hole of a room, more often than not shared with another member or two.

"We shouldn't just start adding on rooms," Gray told the commission. "There should be adequate planning to make sure the space is used efficiently and to the best advantage."

Every non-legislative office except the offices of the governor and lieutenant governor leaves the Capitol. These include the secretary of state, who occupies four large rooms on the first floor and some basement space; the treasurer and the auditor, both with suites on the first floor and a series of scattered rooms in the basement.

Plans call for demolition of the Statehouse Annex, which currently houses the Attorney General and the Ohio Supreme Court. Both are moving into the $60 million, 41-floor tower.

The huge limestone blocks of the annex are being saved for repairs on the Capitol, built of matching blocks of Franklin County stone back in the Civil War era.

Members of the legislature are hopeful that each can have a private office and more secretarial help. They complain of the large volume of mail received at the Capitol instead of at home. Each House member has more than 100,000 constituents, each senator has three times that many.

The legislators say they need facilities to answer mail, receive telephone calls and meet with constituents—as well as a place to study legislation away from the confusion of public chambers where they often feel overly accessible to perennially talkative lobbyists and other favor seekers.

David Johnston, commission director, indicated he would name a committee of eight members to study Statehouse space utilization and facilities, Gray said.

Mayors Courts Dispute Flares

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Backers call it a bill whose time has arrived. Opponents contend it is a pork barrel attempt to usurp local authority.

What they are arguing over is a controversial measure that would abolish the some 500 mayors' courts in operation around the state.

Similar legislation has been introduced in every session of the legislature for the past dozen years, but the latest attempt is different.

The difference has backers of mayors' courts worried.

In an effort to get support for his bill, Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, had the measure amended to create 38 new judgeships throughout the state.

Wilkowski admits it is pork barrel legislation.

"Frankly, without creating the new judgeships we would never have gotten the bill out of committee."

It came out — just barely — the day prior to the spring legislative recess. It is now in the House Rules Committee, which can schedule it for a floor vote.

Wilkowski said he hopes to get the bill out of the Rules Committee May 8 and have it on the House floor May 15, the day after the full legislature convenes.

"I have 45 votes counted for it and that is not including a single Republican vote," he said. "I think there are at least four Republicans who will vote for it."

Wilkowski said his main worry will be attendance after the primary.

"Some of the members who are defeated may not show up," he said. Wilkowski said in that case he would try to delay the May 15 floor vote.

The Toledo legislator said he believed the costs of the new judges would be worth the price. "You can't put a dollar figure on justice," he said, "and there is little justice in mayors' courts."

Wilkowski and his supporters believe mayors' courts are little more than revenue-producing sources for municipalities. Many mayors agreed.

"It is the worst kind of justice," said Richard Broughton, former mayor of suburban Upper Arlington. "As a mayor I know. I practiced it."

Broughton said there always was a tendency for a mayor acting as a judge to back his policemen to the fullest, even if they could be wrong.

"They don't want to go against their police officers," he said, "because good ones are hard to find. You try to keep them happy."

Rep. Raymond Luther, R-1 Newark, opposes the bill, contending mayors' courts should remain.

"Nobody knows the problems a person may have like the mayor in a small community," he said. "Anybody who doesn't want to be tried by one can always transfer the case to a municipal court."

Wilkowski counted that few people know of that provision of the law and that few mayors inform them of that right.

Also, he said, many mayors' courts do not forward to the state information on traffic offenses for which a bond was forfeited. The violator, as a result, he said, doesn't get the points on his record.

Some Food Items Short For Shoppers During May

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government market experts say consumers will have no trouble finding relatively large supplies of meat at supermarkets next month but warn that a little searching will be needed to find canned vegetables and some other food items.

Generally, says the Agriculture Department, shoppers will have enough of most items to go around during May shopping trips. The preview of next month's grocery store situation was announced today in a "Food Marketing Alert" by the department.

The brief report was confined only to what USDA experts see as the food supply situation and did not include predictions on prices or over-all grocery costs.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz told a news conference last week, however, that consumers already have seen two-thirds of this year's food price increase occur. Prices are expected to go up "a bit more," he said, but not at the rate of recent months.

"Dry bean and split pea supplies, in general, are inadequate because of strong demand and less output in 1973 than in 1972," the report said, but added: "May supplies of lentils for all uses are highest in four years for the month."

MR. AND MRS. STEPHEN GAINES

Couple Repeats Wedding Vows In People's Faith Chapel

People's Faith Chapel was the setting for the 6:30 p.m. Feb. 23, wedding of Miss Betty Oliver and Mr. Stephen Michael Gaines.

The Rev. John DeMint performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oliver, Route 2, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Gaines, 717 E. Mound St.

Miss Margaret Wilkins, aunt of the bride, presented a half-hour musical program. Selections included "We've Only Just Begun," "Because," "Always" and as the couple knelt at the altar "The Lord's Prayer."

Vases of red and white carnations adorned the altar and two stand baskets of mums placed at the front were flanked by seven-branch candelabra. Two long stemmed red roses were placed on the altar.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her uncle, Mr. Roy Johnson, wore a floor length A-line gown of white satin with an empire bodice and sweetheart neckline. Acetate and nylon lace accented the bodice and formed the long sleeves. Her headpiece was a tiara of simulated pearls and rhinestones holding a three tiered bouffant nylon tulle fingertip veil. The bride carried a single long stemmed red rose. Her jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings, gifts of the bridegroom.

Miss Melissa Ann Armstrong, niece of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She was attired in a yellow flocked nylon sheer floor length gown. The acetate satin sash at the high waistline ended in a front bow and streamers. Her matching headpiece was of velvet ribbon and tulle.

Mrs. Jesse Jenkins, sister of the bride, was matron of honor in a blue gown similar in style to that of the maid of honor and a matching headpiece.

Mrs. James Newell in green, and Miss Beverly Seymour, in orchid gowns, were bridesmaids. Each attendant carried a long stemmed single yellow rose.

Lisa and Lean Speakman, nieces of the bride, were flower girls. They wore floor length dresses in blue and white with shirred waistlines. Their headpieces matched those of the attendants and they carried small white baskets of flowers.

After repeating their vows and kneeling at the altar, the bride and bridegroom presented the red roses from the altar to their mothers.

Mr. Mike Mathis served as best man for Mr. Gaines. Ushers were Mr. Ronald Gaines, and Mr. Robert Gaines, brothers of the bridegroom. Acolyte was Roger Ray Speakman.

Honored guests were Mrs. Jesse Gaines, grandmother of the groom and Mrs. John Wilkins, grandmother of the bride.

A reception in the Eagle's Lodge party room immediately followed the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with white linen and centered with a three tiered wedding cake with red and white decorations and topped with a bride and groom. Vases of red and white carnations were at either end of the table. Large white wedding bells were suspended from the ceiling over the tables.

Mrs. Dick McCollister, sister of the groom and Mrs. Larry Speakman, sister of the bride, were hostesses.

Mr. Gaines, a 1973 graduate of Circleville High School is employed by Reynolds Metals in Ashville. The couple now resides at 227 1/2 E. Mound St.

MR. AND MRS. STEPHEN GAINES

Couple Repeats Wedding Vows In People's Faith Chapel

People's Faith Chapel was the setting for the 6:30 p.m. Feb. 23, wedding of Miss Betty Oliver and Mr. Stephen Michael Gaines.

The Rev. John DeMint performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oliver, Route 2, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Gaines, 717 E. Mound St. Miss Margaret Wilkins, aunt of the bride, presented a half-hour musical program. Selections included "We've Only Just Begun," "Because," "Always" and as the couple knelt at the altar "The Lord's Prayer."

Vases of red and white carnations adorned the altar and two stand baskets of mums placed at the front were flanked by seven-branch candelabra. Two long stemmed red roses were placed on the altar.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her uncle, Mr. Roy Johnson, wore a floor length A-line gown of white satin with an empire bodice and sweetheart neckline. Acetate and nylon lace accented the bodice and formed the long sleeves. Her headpiece was a tiara of simulated pearls and rhinestones holding a three tiered bouffant nylon tulle fingertip veil. The bride carried a single long stemmed red rose. Her jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings, gifts of the bridegroom.

Miss Melissa Ann Armstrong, niece of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She was attired in a yellow flocked nylon sheer floor length gown. The acetate satin sash at the high waistline ended in a front bow and streamers. Her matching headpiece was of velvet ribbon and tulle.

Mrs. Jesse Jenkins, sister of the bride, was matron of honor in a blue gown similar in style to that of the maid of honor and a matching headpiece.

Mrs. James Newell in green, and Miss Beverly Seymour, in orchid gowns, were bridesmaids. Each attendant carried a long stemmed single yellow rose.

Lisa and Lean Speakman, nieces of the bride, were flower girls. They wore floor length dresses in blue and white with shirred waistlines. Their headpieces matched those of the attendants and they carried small white baskets of flowers.

After repeating their vows and kneeling at the altar, the bride and bridegroom presented the red roses from the altar to their mothers.

Mr. Mike Mathis served as best man for Mr. Gaines. Ushers were Mr. Ronald Gaines, and Mr. Robert Gaines, brothers of the bridegroom. Acolyte was Roger Ray Speakman.

Honored guests were Mrs. Jesse Gaines, grandmother of the groom and Mrs. John Wilkins, grandmother of the bride.

A reception in the Eagle's Lodge party room immediately followed the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with white linen and centered with a three tiered wedding cake with red and white decorations and topped with a bride and groom. Vases of red and white carnations were at either end of the table. Large white wedding bells were suspended from the ceiling over the tables.

Mrs. Dick McCollister, sister of the groom and Mrs. Larry Speakman, sister of the bride, were hostesses.

Mr. Gaines, a 1973 graduate of Circleville High School is employed by Reynolds Metals in Ashville. The couple now resides at 227½ E. Mound St.

The institute said that was a 1.38 per cent jump over output by the seven for the same period in 1973.

The 1972-73 first quarter increase was significantly higher, 9.42 per cent, the association of investor-owned electric companies reported. It pinned the smaller increase this year on consumer conservation efforts and a decrease in industrial production.

The report said the systems generated 25.6 billion kilowatt hours of electricity in the first quarter of this year.

Included were output from Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co., Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., Dayton Power and Light Co., Ohio Edison Co., Ohio Power Co. and Toledo Edison Co.

Agriculture Losing More Land Area

An increasing amount of land is being withdrawn from Ohio's agricultural land base for urban and commercial development, says Don Archer, district conservationist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service (SCS). This land often represents some of the best available for growing food crops—a trend that can contribute to more expensive food, said Archer.

The conservationist noted that decisions on the best long term use of land is becoming more complex as competition for land becomes greater. The future of both private and public interests is deeply involved in such decisions.

The National Cooperative Soil Survey provides modern soil information to help guide these kinds of decisions. The survey gives soils information in a scientific manner to provide a base for objective decisions for all land uses.

In summarizing some of the major land use situations in Ohio, Archer stated that about five per cent of the population in the state is engaged in farming. This five per cent is producing food for all of Ohio. Farmers control about 80 per cent of the land area in the state. Most of the remaining 20 per cent of Ohio is in housing and developmental uses. "In both of these principal land use situations," Archer noted, "soil survey information and conservation treatment of the soil are important in maintaining a good environmental and economic balance."

Farmers in the Buckeye State have used soil survey information to guide land use and treatment for years. They have learned to use the data to help them make decisions on erosion control, fertilizing, vegetative cover, and other conservation practices.

The soil survey information is also valuable in solving soil related

Nolan Struggles Against Gilligan

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — James D. Nolan is a politician who uses phrases that a mechanic might employ in expressing himself.

He isn't bothered by the fact that most people feel he has little chance of defeating incumbent John J. Gilligan in the race for the Democratic nomination for governor in the May 7 primary.

"I understand the nuts and bolts of government and how to make the gears mesh," said Nolan, a Cleveland nursing home operator.

He said his biggest problem is "getting people to realize that I'm running, that Gilligan has an opponent. But I think I'm starting to overcome that."

Another of his problems is that Gilligan has ignored him in the campaign, although the governor's aides occasionally have denied Nolan's charges.

"I'd like to debate Gilligan, but he won't debate," Nolan said. "It's tough to debate an empty chair."

He said his first priority if elected governor would be to reduce government spending.

"The present administration has gone off on adventurous frolics in spending that has proved very unsuccessful," he said. "It has not concerned itself with the serious problems on urban and commercial land," said Archer. He emphasized that just because land is no longer farmed does not mean that soil related problems will cease. In fact, soil problems are often increased when land is converted to building sites, roads, or factories. Problems such as erosion, sedimentation, drainage, landslides, runoff, pollution, and flooding need attention in all urban and commercial areas.

Soil survey data is available through local soil and water conservation districts, Soil Conservation Service office, 1450 North Court Street, Circleville, Ohio.

problems of Ohio education, medical care for the aged and housing.

"We have to get back to what I call the bare bones of government. We have to redirect our priorities so there will be enough money for education and the other essential programs."

Nolan, the self-styled "poor man's candidate," celebrated his 52nd birthday April 18 at a 99-cent corned beef and cabbage dinner in Cleveland for Democratic senatorial candidate John Glenn. He brought along a busload of friends for the affair.

His chief weapon in the campaign is his mimeograph machine. For $300 a week he has bombarded Ohio newspapers and wire services with daily releases attacking the Gilligan administration on a variety of subjects, including government waste and high taxes. He also accused the administration of maintaining its own propaganda machine to enhance Gilligan's image.

"You can't buy the kind of publicity I've been getting for $300 a week,"

SCOGS To Meet Here

South Central Ohio Genealogical Society, a branch of SCOGS, will meet Sunday at the Circleville Library on Main St. The hours are 1-4 p.m. Family researchers welcome.

Nolan said. "How much would it cost to run advertisements in papers all over the state? Thousands of dollars."

Nolan, who is bald and short of stature, always wears a bow tie, explaining "I tie them myself." He was born in Cleveland but grew up in Lorain and was once a steelworker. He served in the European Theater during World War II. He and his wife, Lillian, have three children.

Nolan was the Democratic party's nominee for secretary of state in 1966 but lost to Ted Brown, a long-time holder of the office. He ran unsuccessfully for lieutenant governor in 1970.

However, he probably is best known for his lawsuit that knocked out the Hanna Amendment which guaranteed every county in Ohio one seat in the General Assembly regardless of population.

The suit led to the "one man, one vote" ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court, which required reapportionment of state legislatures on a population basis.

"The guy's wasting his time," a man said at a Parma Heights meeting where Nolan spoke in his campaign.

But Nolan is convinced he will beat the odds and win the gubernatorial nomination.

"Everywhere I go there is disenchantment with Gilligan," Nolan said.

The 1972-73 first quarter increase was significantly higher, 9.42 per cent, the association of investor-owned electric companies reported. It pinned the smaller increase this year on consumer conservation efforts and a decrease in industrial production. The report said the systems generated 25.6 billion kilowatt hours of electricity in the first quarter of this year. Included were output from Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co., Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., Dayton Power and Light Co., Ohio Edison Co., Ohio Power Co. and Toledo Edison Co.

Agriculture Losing More Land Area

An increasing amount of land is being withdrawn from Ohio's agricultural land base for urban and commercial development, says Don Archer, district conservationist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service (SCS). This land often represents some of the best available for growing food crops—a trend that can contribute to more expensive food, said Archer.

The conservationist noted that decisions on the best long term use of land is becoming more complex as competition for land becomes greater. The future of both private and public interests is deeply involved in such decisions.

The National Cooperative Soil Survey provides modern soil information to help guide these kinds of decisions. The survey gives soils information in a scientific manner to provide a base for objective decisions for all land uses.

In summarizing some of the major land use situations in Ohio, Archer stated that about five per cent of the population in the state is engaged in farming. This five per cent is producing food for all of Ohio. Farmers control about 80 per cent of the land area in the state. Most of the remaining 20 per cent of Ohio is in housing and developmental uses. "In both of these principal land use situations," Archer noted, "soil survey information and conservation treatment of the soil are important in maintaining a good environmental and economic balance."

Farmers in the Buckeye State have used soil survey information to guide land use and treatment for years. They have learned to use the data to help them make decisions on erosion control, fertilizing, vegetative cover, and other conservation practices.

The soil survey information is also valuable in solving soil related

Nolan Struggles Against Gilligan

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — James D. Nolan is a politician who uses phrases that a mechanic might employ in expressing himself.

He isn't bothered by the fact that most people feel he has little chance of defeating incumbent John J. Gilligan in the race for the Democratic nomination for governor in the May 7 primary.

"I understand the nuts and bolts of government and how to make the gears mesh," said Nolan, a Cleveland nursing home operator.

He said his biggest problem is "getting people to realize that I'm running, that Gilligan has an opponent. But I think I'm starting to overcome that."

Another of his problems is that Gilligan has ignored him in the campaign, although the governor's aides occasionally have denied Nolan's charges.

"I'd like to debate Gilligan, but he won't debate," Nolan said. "It's tough to debate an empty chair."

He said his first priority if elected governor would be to reduce government spending.

"The present administration has gone off on adventurous frolics in spending that has proved very unsuccessful," he said. "It has not concerned itself with the serious problems on urban and commercial land, said Archer. He emphasized that just because land is no longer farmed does not mean that soil related problems will cease. In fact, soil problems are often increased when land is converted to building sites, roads, or factories. Problems such as erosion, sedimentation, drainage, landslides, runoff, pollution, and flooding need attention in all urban and commercial areas.

Soil survey data is available through local soil and water conservation districts, Soil Conservation Service office, 1450 North Court Street, Circleville, Ohio.

problems of Ohio education, medical care for the aged and housing.

"We have to get back to what I call the bare bones of government. We have to redirect our priorities so there will be enough money for education and the other essential programs."

Nolan, the self-styled "poor man's candidate," celebrated his 52nd birthday April 18 at a 99-cent corned beef and cabbage dinner in Cleveland for Democratic senatorial candidate John Glenn. He brought along a busload of friends for the affair.

His chief weapon in the campaign is his mimeograph machine. For $300 a week he has bombarded Ohio newspapers and wire services with daily releases attacking the Gilligan administration on a variety of subjects, including government waste and high taxes. He also accused the administration of maintaining its own propaganda machine to enhance Gilligan's image.

"You can't buy the kind of publicity I've been getting for $300 a week,"

SCOGS To Meet Here

South Central Ohio Genealogical Society, a branch of SCOGS, will meet Sunday at the Circleville Library on Main St. The hours are 1-4 p.m. Family researchers welcome.

Nolan said. "How much would it cost to run advertisements in papers all over the state? Thousands of dollars."

Nolan, who is bald and short of stature, always wears a bow tie, explaining "I tie them myself."

He was born in Cleveland but grew up in Lorain and was once a steelworker. He served in the European Theater during World War II. He and his wife, Lillian, have three children.

Nolan was the Democratic party's nominee for secretary of state in 1966 but lost to Ted Brown, a long-time holder of the office. He ran unsuccessfully for lieutenant governor in 1970.

However, he probably is best known for his lawsuit that knocked out the Hama Amendment which guaranteed every county in Ohio one seat in the General Assembly regardless of population.

The suit led to the "one man, one vote" ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court, which required reapportionment of state legislatures on a population basis.

"The guy's wasting his time," a man said at a Parma Heights meeting where Nolan spoke in his campaign.

But Nolan is convinced he will beat the odds and win the gubernatorial nomination.

"Everywhere I go there is disenchantment with Gilligan," Nolan said.

Charles Fry Fights For Identity

BLANCHESTER, Ohio (AP) — It was another long campaign day for Charles E. Fry when he walked into Chester Bates' accounting office in Blancheater, passing out literature and shaking hands.

Bates was an old classmate from Ohio State, so Fry took a few minutes to exchange pleasantries. Then Bates wrote out a $75 check for the Fry campaign.

"When are you up for re-election, Charlie?" Bates asked.

Fry's smile flickered for a second, then quickly returned.

"I'm in the May 7 primary, Chester," he said, "for the nomination for governor."

Bates seemed taken aback.

"You're running for governor? Against Jim Rhodes?"

He paused for a second, thinking.

"I didn't realize that," Bates said, handing over the check. "Boy, Charlie, you've got a tough row to hoe."

Fry kept on smiling. A 12-year-member of the General Assembly, former speaker pro tem of the House, voted outstanding first-term senator, a member of the so-called Little Hoover Commission and a former special agent for the FBI, Fry knows his biggest problem in the primary is that no one knows who he is or that he's running.

He's working hard to keep former Gov. James A. Rhodes from winning by default.

"You can't deny that the name recognition factor is a problem," said Russ Adams, Fry's campaign consultant. Adams' firm also handled the campaign of U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio.

"He hasn't really capitalized on the matters of state that he's been involved with," Adams said. "He does his job, and he doesn't take advantage of his position."

The anonymity of the legislature means that Fry is spending the last two weeks before the election on an exhausting, 12-hour a day whistlestop bus tour through the state.

He's spending his campaign funds on radio spots, trying to get the name across.

And he pounds away on what he calls his number one plank — integrity in government.

"We're going to take the lead in giving Ohio the most honest government in the nation," Fry says. "This is an issue we can carry."

Fry contends Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan is vulnerable on the question of integrity. But he says Rhodes can't capitalize on the issue because of questions raised about the Rhodes administration.

"We need someone who doesn't need to be defensive about his own record," Fry said, "and that isn't Jim Rhodes. We're going to take what could be an issue against Republicans and turn it to our advantage."

Fry says if Rhodes does win the nomination, he will lose to Gilligan in November. And he's afraid the rest of the Republican ticket may follow.

"It's going to be a tough campaign," he said. "And it's going to be particularly tough for all Republicans if Jim Rhodes heads the ticket."

Dayco Sues Big Firms

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Con- tending the two big firms drove it out of the tire business, the Dayco Corp. of Dayton filed antitrust actions Tuesday against the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. and the Firestone Rubber Co.

The complaint in U.S. District Court here seeks $30 million in damages from each company.

Dayco's allegations are similar to those made by the U.S. Department of Justice in antitrust actions filed last August against Goodyear and Firestone.

Dayco accused the companies of attempting to monopolize the manufacture and sale of replacement tires in violation of the Sherman Act. It contended those actions forced Dayco to sell its tire division in 1961.

Dayco manufacturers a variety of rubber and plastic-based component parts, primarily for industrial use.

Tappan Plans Acquisition Of Lawson Firm

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A pair of kitchen cabinet manufacturers, Tappan Co. of Mansfield and F. H. Lawson Co., Cincinnati, plan for Tappan to acquire Lawson, if directors approve.

The firms announced Monday they have signed a letter of intent.

Spokesmen said the acquisition probably would entail giving Lawson shareholders a combination of notes and Tappan stock, but details of the plan weren't announced.

Lawson, with plants in Ohio and Tennessee, also makes housewares, office and institutional products and city litter containers. Tappan is a manufacturer of major home appliances and air conditioning and heating equipment.

The heaviest normal newborn child recorded in modern times was a boy weighing 24 pounds 4 ounces, born on June 3, 1961, to Mrs. Saadet Cor of Ceyhan, southern Turkey.

Cincy Vice Mayor Quits In Vice Probe

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Vice Mayor Gerald Springer, whose sudden resignation sent shock waves through local political circles, said Tuesday he was stepping down because "the public has a right to expect very high standards of its officials and I feel I have violated that standard."

Springer was to become the youngest mayor in Cincinnati history in December. He is a Democrat.

The 30-year-old attorney has been linked to a vice investigation involving his visits to a northern Kentucky health club which allegedly fronted as a prostitution operation.

Springer admitted at a Tuesday news conference that he had made two visits to a Ft. Wright, Ky., motel where the health club was located.

Both visits were paid by check, he said.

He said he engaged in activities

"which, at least to me, are questionable."

Springer said the actions "weighed heavily on my conscience" and prompted him to contact the FBI. He said he "voluntarily answered all inquiries of what I had done and of what I had knowledge."

He said he will be better able to confront "this situation as a private citizen."

The prostitution trial is under way in Covington, Ky., federal court.

He said he went to the FBI when he heard of the investigation into the health club.

Springer, a New York native who entered politics four years ago, was one of the top vote getters in the past two city council campaigns.

Cincinnati council selects the mayor from its ranks. The city also has a city manager and the mayor's position is largely ceremonial.

Springer rose rapidly after an unsuccessful but surprisingly strong showing against U.S. Rep. Donald Clancy in 1970. Springer was in his second two-year term.

He said he had visited several health clubs in Cincinnati "on a number of occasions. These were solely for legitimate purposes. To the best of my knowledge, no club in Cincinnati which I visited was engaged in any improper or illegal activities."

"I believe the interest of the public is best served by my resignation until such times as the air has been cleared," he said.

He added that he hoped to someday "return to public life."

STOGIE-PUFFING COUNCILWOMAN—Cleveland Councilwoman Mary E. Zunt puffs on her cigar during council session in Cleveland. She says she kicked cigarettes by switching to the stogies.

Ohio Lottery Tickets Ordered By Board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's first lottery tickets, described as "a four-month's supply, are being ordered from a Philadelphia firm at a cost of $119,000.

The State Controlling Board approved the purchase Monday after being told they will be printed by the Globe Ticket Co. at a cost of $17.71 per thousand sheets. Delivery is expected by June 24, a spokesman for the Department of Administrative Services said.

In other business, the board approved $3,119,000 in additional costs growing out of the tragic tornadoes that wrecked the Xenia area April 3.

Of the total, all but $119,000 went for repairs to the campus of Central State University. The adjutant general's office received $119,000 to pay the remainder of costs of the Ohio National Guard for its service in the storm area.

Along with an earlier allocation for the guard, its total rose to $798,000. The latest amount was for the period from April 11 through April 22 — last day guardsmen were on duty in the area.

In other business, the board approved:

—Release of $1.4 million for the University of Akron's Institute of Polymer Science addition.

—Authorized spending $1.1 million by Kent State University for physical education and other facilities at its Trumbull County branch.

—Authorized the release of $2.3 million for a new technical building and renovation work at Ohio University's Zanesville branch.

—Approved $160,000 and $100,000 for planning at Ohio State University's Mansfield and Marion campuses, respectively.

—Okayed four land purchases totaling slightly more than $1 million for Youngstown State University, most of it for property at the corner of Lincoln Ave. and Phelps St., Youngstown.

—Released $335,764 to the Ohio Board of Regents to purchase equipment for technical institutes at a total of 17 locations.

—Authorized the Department of Natural Resources to spend $26,200 for acquisition of more land for Kelleys Island State Park, and $107,500 for a 75-acre addition to Punderson State Park in Geauga County.

See Phase-Out Of LSH Operations

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Kenneth D. Gaver, Ohio's outgoing director of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, believes there will be a phase-out of many of Lima State Hospital's operation in the next two years.

"I think that is quite clearly in the picture . . .," he said. "It's clearly in the cards," he said, noting he didn't expect much of a change in the institution's role immediately.

Lima State Hospital is the holding facility for those judged criminally insane or mentally incompetent to stand trial at the time. Gaver would like to see the later go to other institutions.

Gaver is leaving his $35,000 post sometime in August to become commissioner of the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation Sept. 1.

Although it is not a cabinet position as he had in Ohio, the post will pay around $50,000 a year in salary and other benefits, including a house, maid and utilities.

Gaver, at a news conference Monday, said Ohio had turned around its mental care operations since Gov. John J. Gilligan was elected three years ago.

The system, he said, has become oriented toward care of the mentally ill. He said most mental hospitals in Ohio were "a disaster" when he took over.

"While Ohio has come a long way, it still has a long way to go," he said. He said he will put his concept of smaller, community-oriented facilities into practice in Texas.

He said although Texas was ahead of Ohio in having fully accredited hospital type facilities, it was behind in the small hospital concept.

In the past three years, he said Ohio has improved not only patient care and overcrowding but has provided for an attendant on duty at all hospital wards at all times.

At Lima, he said, the population was down from 1,200 in 1971 to 750. He said the ideal population should be around 350 to 400.

"The deficiency at Lima is not space but staff," he said. "It is not the type of savvy place people want to go to work. They have difficulties in recruiting."

Toll-Free Bridge Set

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A ribbon-cutting ceremony was scheduled this afternoon at the Grant Bridge on the Ohio River—marking the removal of tolls on the span connecting South Portsmouth, Ky. and Portsmouth, Ohio.

Kentucky Gov. Wendell Ford and Transportation Secretary James Gray were to join in the ceremonies.

Ford and Ohio Gov. John Gilligan arranged the agreement, in response to recommendations from citizen groups and leaders in the two states who stressed that a free bridge would establish stronger ties between Portsmouth and nearby Kentucky communities.

Under the original bond payment schedule, the debt would have been paid off and the bridge made toll free late in 1975.

The ceremony was to take place in late afternoon after a parade from Kentucky to the Ohio side of the river.

"which, at least to me, are questionable."

Mysterious 'Red Box' Mentioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — During his Sept. 15, 1972, conversation with aides H.R. Haldeman and John W. Dean III, President Nixon inquired about a mysterious "little red box."

"Have they found the box yet?" the President asked, according to his Watergate tapes transcripts.

Dean: "(Then Acting FBI Director L. Patrick) Gray has never had access to the box. He is now going to pursue the box ....

Haldeman: "The latest public story was that she handed it over to Edward Bennett Williams."

Dean: "That is right."

Haldeman: "The Bureau ought to go into Edward Bennett Williams and start questioning him and have him tied up for a couple of days."

Nixon: "Yeah, I hope they do. The Bureau better get over pretty quick and get that little red box. We want it cleared up. We want to get to the bottom of it. If anybody is guilty over here we want to know."

Haldeman: "It will probably be in the news."

Edward Bennett Williams is the well-known attorney, but there is no hint to the identity of the woman involved—or as to what the "little red box" was all about.

Oil Pipeline Closing Down

OIL CITY, Pa. (AP)—An oil pipeline company here, once part of John D. Rockefeller's mighty Standard Oil Trust, is permanently closing its main lines. The firm blames an expensive state antipollution order.

The shutdown of National Transit Company's two main lines will take six weeks, said Thomas L. O'Shea, a one-time company ditch digger who worked his way up to vice president for operations.

The two lines, which have carried crude oil from Ohio and West Virginia to northwestern Pennsylvania, have been polluting state waterways, according to state charges.

National Transit, owned by Pennzoil Co., will remain in business, operating about 2,000 small lines transporting oil from private wells to truck tanks; and an oil distribution center in Bradford.

Both O'Shea, in a telephone interview, and the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources agree the pipelines leak. In 1971, the department ordered the company to pay $2,500 annually for five years to cover prospective damages from leaks. This eliminated the need for assessments after each new leak.

But the expensive part of the directive was an order to test and maintain the pipelines. O'Shea said in 1972, the first full year of the order, it cost the company $600,000 to $700,000 to update the 250 miles of pipe in the two trunk lines. The firm can no longer afford the maintenance cost.

6 Demos Vie For Secretary Of State's Job

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Six Democrats, all but one of whom has worked in government before, seek the nomination for secretary of state in the May 7 primary.

On the Republican side, 67-year-old Ted W. Brown, the incumbent for the past 23 years, is unopposed.

Serving in government before were R. Kent Bell of East Liverpool, Beverly Ann Bingle of Columbus, state Sen. Tony P. Hall of Dayton, John F. Kennedy of Cleveland and Dennis E. Thompson of Columbus.

William K. Brown is the sixth candidate. He is virtually unknown and is not campaigning actively, apparently relying on his "Brown" name for votes. The 53-year-old self-employed businessman claims he is a "conservative Democrat."

Kennedy, 36, won the nomination in 1970 with almost 60 per cent of the vote, but lost in the general election by 300,000 votes.

"We ought to do a better job trying to stimulate voting turnout through educational means," Kennedy said, who gave up his state liquor auditing job to run. "We have to put some kind of program together through voter education."

He has campaigned hard in Cleveland where he repeats his 1970 issues: mobile registration, door-to-door registration, reduction of residency requirement, mandatory voter registration and extension of polling hours.

Kennedy, who acknowledges he has a popular name, fought hard for a state party endorsement. Instead, Hall received the backing of the Democratic party, and substantial financial and strategic support.

But Hall, 32, is fighting an uphill battle for name recognition.

He never has run in a statewide campaign and until recently was unknown outside Montgomery County, where he was elected twice to the Ohio House and once to the Senate. His father was a former Dayton mayor.

"The current secretary of state has done nothing to bring Ohio election procedures into the 20th century," Hall tells voters.

"While other states have been modernizing election processes. . . Ohio has continued to plod along with outdated practices which have been perpetuated by the state's chief election officer," he said.

Hall campaigns to make uniform election laws throughout Ohio's 88 counties and standardize voting procedures.

"The corruption of Watergate has already infected the office of Ohio's secretary of state," said R. Kent Bell, 25, another candidate. "Ted Brown is a partisan Republican and should be defeated for the office."

Bell is chief deputy auditor for his father, Columbiana County Auditor Kenneth Bell. He is the youngest statewide candidate and is making his first try for elective office.

He said registration should remain in effect despite housing moves, biographical information should be distributed about all statewide candidates by the state and the legislature should review the secretary's decisions more carefully.

Miss Bingle, a former research director for the governor's office, tries to campaign in two counties a day on a $3,000 budget.

She pledged a comprehensive list of election reforms, including permanent registration and door-to-door registration. Miss Bingle, 30, packages her recommendations as a "right to vote" proposal.

"Ohio citizens lose their right to vote under the present haphazard administration and the lack of uniform and rational procedures from county to county and within counties," she said.

Gas Company To Provide Consumer Information Service

Have a question about home energy conservation? Columbia Gas of Ohio will help you answer it, according to Calvin Danford, Circleville manager for the gas company.

Under a new service announced with each residential customer's April gas bill, a gas company consultant is now available to assist homeowners in their effort to conserve natural gas usage in their homes, and to offer hints and recommendations on how to do so.

Customers can make inquiries by writing or calling the "gas conservation consultant" at your gas company office, 474-3188. If the consultant is not available immediately, the call will be returned as quickly as possible. There is no charge for the consultation.

"Our main emphasis will be discussing and recommending methods to reduce the loss of heat in the home, particularly through the installation of additional ceiling insulation, although other methods of potential energy conservation also will be thoroughly explored," he said.

"Proper insulation is not only a winter asset in your home," he pointed out, "it's equally beneficial in conserving energy during the summer in air-conditioned residences and tends to make homes which are not air-conditioned more comfortable." For this reason, he said, customers are urged to contact the gas company now instead of at the outset of the next heating season.

Pamphlets on conservation methods, do-it-yourself procedures, and lists of local insulation dealers also will be available free of charge to inquiring customers.

"Do-it-Yourself Clinics" are planned to aid homeowners who may wish to personally add ceiling insulation or other conservation materials in their home. Customers should contact the gas conservation consultant for information on a clinic in this area. Gas Company dealer-home service representatives also offer residential conservation programs for school meetings and adult groups.

According to the gas company manager, "There are numerous ways to help save valuable energy in the home but ceiling insulation is the most obvious one and, quite frequently, the most neglected one — but whatever your question about home energy conservation, we want to hear from you."

"We hope the public will take advantage of this free program to help conserve all energies and particularly natural gas, one of our nation's most precious resources," he said.

Heavy Rain Hits Wide Area Of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy thunderstorms pelted areas from Texas to West Virginia today, dumping up to 7 inches of rain during the night at one spot in Texas and prompting flash-flood watches in that state.

The watches were in effect for most of northeast Texas and parts of the southwestern and northwestern portions of the state.

More than 7 inches of rain soaked Kerrville, Tex., during the night.

The thunderstorm activity extended into New Mexico and through Louisiana and West Virginia. Scattered showers and thundershowers spread into Ohio and parts of Pennsylvania, New York and New England.

Scattered showers also sprinkled the Rockies, Colorado, Minnesota and Oregon.

Skies were clear over the south Atlantic Coast states, the mid-Mississippi Valley, the Central Plains and the desert Southwest, but clouded elsewhere.

Thompson, 39, has held jobs with the Democratic administrations in both Columbus city government and state government.

A former examiner in the state auditor's office, Thompson was a candidate for treasurer in 1970. He placed third in a field of three.

"As secretary of state, I believe one of the most important functions should be to encourage people to vote and take a personal interest as well as his duty to head registration drives in our state," Thompson said.

If elected, he said he would extend voting until 9 p.m. "for all working people to have an opportunity to vote." Polls now close at 6:30 p.m.

Caught In The Middle

DEAR ABBY: My brother left his wife and five children and got a divorce. My close friend subsequently divorced her husband. It soon came out that my brother and my friend had been seeing each other for a few years before their divorces. They are presently living together and plan to be married soon. I hope they will find the happiness together they lacked in their former marriages, but there is a problem:

I have always been very close to my brother's wife, and I adore the children. My brother says that his ex-wife is no longer a part of the family, and that if I want to see the children I should do so when he has them for visitation. Brother says that if his ex-wife is invited to any family gatherings, he and his wife-to-be will not come.

I don't want to have to choose whom to invite to my home for a family affair, but I am told that since my brother is closer to me than his ex-wife, he should not have to stay away. During the holidays, I invited everyone and left the decision up to those who wanted to come, but there was side-choosing and ill feelings so I cancelled the party. My own children are being denied associating with their cousins, and remaining neutral is not easy. Please help.

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Your brother divorced his wife, you didn't so don't let him dictate who you shall have in your home. Ask everyone you want, and if Brother doesn't want to come, let him stay away.

DEAR ABBY: Several of us have a question to ask to which we have been unable to find an answer.

When a married man is invited to be a guest speaker for a women's club (business or social), what about his wife?

The affair is usually held in the evening at a motel or hotel beginning with a dinner. What is the speaker's wife supposed to do while her husband is being fussed over by a bunch of women?

Nixon Pays, Report Says

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — President Nixon has paid most of the $432,787 plus interest that the Internal Revenue service said he owes in back income taxes, the Baltimore Sun said today in a story attributed to an authoritative source.

The Sun, in a dispatch from its Washington bureau, said the source refused to reveal how much of the debt had been paid.

Gerald L. Warren, deputy White House press secretary, declined to comment on the story.

The White House announced early this month that Nixon would pay the total assessed by the IRS for taxes that were underpaid between 1969 and 1972.

Since that announcement, however, the White House has refused to say when the money would be paid.

Solon Pleads Guilty To Income Tax Count

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Maryland State Sen. Clarence M. Mitchell III has pleaded no contest to failing to file income taxes.

Mitchell, 33, pleaded no contest Monday to four counts of failing to report income of more than $54,000 between 1967 and 1970.

I feel that if a club can't afford two meals, they should get speakers from their membership.

Also, what if the meeting is out of town over a weekend? Don't you think the speaker's wife should be invited too? Please straighten us out on this. A

CLUB DIVIDED

DEAR CLUB: It is customary when inviting a speaker to let him know that his wife is welcome, too. If this courtesy is omitted and the speaker wants his wife to be included, he should say so. Weekends? Absolutely if the budget permits.

DEAR ABBY: To the lady who was 30 and recently divorced and wanted to know where to go to meet men. Here's what I did at age 36 and newly divorced:

I called around to all the churches (all denominations) and got information on all the religious and social gatherings in churches sponsored for singles in my age group. Then I made a list and took turns visiting all the churches. It took alot of courage to go to so many strange groups alone, but it paid off because at the Unitarian church I met just the man for me. We have been happily married for 15 years.

HAPPY IN HOUSTON

DEAR HAPPY: Some people go to church to pray. Others go to pray they meet someone. To each his own.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Caught In The Middle

DEAR ABBY: My brother left his wife and five children and got a divorce. My close friend subsequently divorced her husband. It soon came out that my brother and my friend had been seeing each other for a few years before their divorces. They are presently living together and plan to be married soon. I hope they will find the happiness together they lacked in their former marriages, but there is a problem:

I have always been very close to my brother's wife, and I adore the children. My brother said that his ex-wife is no longer a part of the family, and that if I want to see the children I should do so when he has them for visitation. Brother says that if his ex-wife is invited to any family gatherings, he and his wife-to-be will not come.

I don't want to have to choose whom to invite to my home for a family affair, but I am told that since my brother is closer to me than his ex-wife, he should not have to stay away. During the holidays, I invited everyone and left the decision up to those who wanted to come, but there was side-choosing and ill feelings so I cancelled the party. My own children are being denied associating with their cousins, and remaining neutral is not easy. Please help.

Two Women Injured In Accident

Two women claimed injuries after a two-car accident at 4:10 p.m. Tuesday on Route 62 just south of the Route 762 intersection. Margaret I. Moore, 47, Orient, was cited in the accident for failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead.

According to the report taken by State Highway Patrolman D. E. Norman, Phyllis M. Boyle, 31, Derby, was northbound on Route 62 when she stopped her car at the Harrisburg-Georgesville Road to make a left turn.

Ms. Moore came up behind the Boyle vehicle, noticed the brake lights and tried to stop. The car slid on the wet pavement into the other car.

Both women claimed injuries but were not treated at the scene.

Mitchell Study Brought Quote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Observing that a trial of John N. Mitchell would take a long time but that the former attorney general would never plead guilty in the Watergate affair, President Nixon asked on April 17, 1973, "What would you do if you were Mitchell?"

"I think I would probably go to Saudi Arabia to tell you the truth," replied Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen. "Poison," mused Nixon.

Certain Bugging Remains Mystery

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon feared in April 1973 that his counsel, John W. Dean III, might reveal a certain bugging.

Nixon said "I feel uneasy" that Dean might "go popping off about everything else that is done in the government, you know, the bugging of the ...."

But the transcript of a meeting among Nixon, John D. Ehrlichman and H.R. Haldeman doesn't identify the site of the eavesdropping effort.

Gilligan Aims Campaign At November Election

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John G. Gilligan, by his own admission, is "campaigning around the fringes" for a second term as Ohio's chief executive. The approach is deceptive.

For one, Gilligan is throwing his weight around in other races. And, for another, the calculated politics of office, he contends will pay off.

"My own campaigning has been minimal," Gilligan said "what time I've spent I've spent trying to help the rest of the ticket — Celeste, Hall, Metzzenbaum."

Gilligan, in fact, arranged to stump the north the week before the with state Rep. Richard Celeste, D-5 Cleveland, the Democratic party's chosen candidate for lieutenant governor, and state Sen. Tony Hall, D-

6 Dayton, its pick for secretary of state.

"According to the polls, I have a 98 per cent recognition factor in Ohio," Gilligan said. "Obviously, Celeste and Hall don't have anything approaching that."

"It's for them, though I don't know how much I could do," he added.

Then there's the sheer power of an incumbent. "He does enjoy access to the media," the governor acknowledged. "He has the ability to keep people aware he's around."

Take the report from the Governor's Task Force on Health Care in Ohio. It's on Gilligan's desk now, for public release just before the election.

"It was timed to come just before the election," Gilligan said.

Gilligan, 53, had by many standards a full political career behind him when he was swept into office in 1970. He won the 1969 election by about 350,000 votes.

The Cincinnati native taught literature at Xavier University for five years before being elected to the City Council in 1953. He served seven two-year terms.

In 1964, Gilligan was elected to Congress from Ohio's 1st District, but was defeated in a bid for re-election the next term.

He lost a race for the U.S. Senate in 1968 to William B. Saxbe, President Nixon's attorney general.

Gilligan acknowledges he's looking past the May 7 primary to the general election campaign, where he'll probably face either former Gov. James A. Rhodes or state Rep. Charles Fry, R-75 Springfield, candidates for Republican nomination.

"I think Rhodes is the most formidable candidate the Republicans could put up," Gilligan observed. "I think he's the one I'd like to run against."

In that case — and to a lesser extent against Fry — political records would be the important issue, Gilligan said.

"It's fairly easy to compare the performance of various programs," he said. "We'd look to his approaches to such things as mental health, environmental protection, education, taxation, ethics..."

And about Fry? "He was in office when Rhodes was governor, and he didn't say much then," said Gilligan.

Either way, said the governor, "it will be a contrast with the old and the new, a real chance for the people of Ohio to make a meaningful decision, to look at factual material not buried under campaign rhetoric."

Money, obviously, will be of little concern. Gilligan's campaign chairman, Peter O'Grady, told reporters weeks ago the governor would spend

$1.5 million to get re-elected.

O'Grady last month reported receipts of $267,785 and expenditures of $148,420 for the period Oct. 1, 1973-April 8, 1974.

"I've long been a firm believer in the value of citizen involvement in political activities and campaigns," Gilligan said. "It's my conviction that given Watergate and given the now legal and self-imposed limits on campaign financing, the use of citizen volunteers will be even more important than ever."

"I'm spending the time I have to campaign attracting and activating and energizing volunteers."

Gilligan came in for some sharp criticism for his support of the Democratic party's candidate endorsement program — the same one that gave Hall, Celeste and U.S. Sen. Howard M. Metzzenbaum, D-Ohio, party backing.

One of the key complainants was John Glenn, former astronaut and Metzzenbaum's opponent May 7.

"I think that any party worth its salt should endorse candidates in a political campaign. Given the wide open primaries in Ohio, if a party does not get in and sift and recommend the most highly qualified, then we get into this silly name game."

A Glenn victory in May wouldn't mean that much to the process, Gilligan said. "But I think if both Celeste and Hall are beaten, or either one of them lose, it would seriously weaken the attraction of the endorsement procedure," he said.

"Of course, if both win, I think we've opened a new era of politics in Ohio," he added.

Gilligan — tall, slim, sandyhaired, relaxed — has made a name for himself nationally. Still, he insists his interest is in strengthening the Democratic party.

"I have no notions about 1976," he declared. "I'm a realist enough to know the odds for a governor, (to be nominated for President) especially with this kind of delegate selection process, are pretty, pretty slim."

3 Nations Hold May Day Rites

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
May Day demonstrations planned in Lisbon and Buenos Aires today overshadowed Moscow's annual Red Square parade on the international holiday honoring the working man.

Portugal's new military junta, in a move to contain and channel burgeoning leftism, approved the country's first legal May Day observance in half a century "as a tribute to the Portuguese workers."

Lisbon braced for wild demonstrations by unionists, Socialists and Communists celebrating the overthrow of dictator Antonio de Oliveira Salazar's heirs last week and the promise of political freedom.

The new Portuguese strongman, Gen. Antonio de Spínola, actively encouraged the leftist demonstrations—which the old regime had banned.

Ultra-leftists organized a "Red May Day." Legal labor unions set up a separate rally at which Spínola was expected to appear. It had the blessing of the Democratic Movement, the ineffectual legal opposition movement under the old regime.

In Buenos Aires, President Juan D. Peron and right-wing labor leaders who are the chief bulwark of his government sought to use the holiday to rally support against young leftist in the Peronist movement.

The General Confederation of Workers, or CGT, scheduled a four-hour rally in the palmed Plaza de Mayo, in front of the presidential palace, and called on the nation's 9 million workers to unite in a "Fiesta of Work and National Unity."

With the 78-year-old president scheduled to address the crowd from a balcony of the palace, the heaviest security precautions in memory were in effect to prevent violence from the Peronist Youth and their guerrilla wing, the Montoneros.

Elsewhere:

French unions called off their usual march through the streets of Paris to keep things cool and not endanger Socialist Francois Mitterrand's chances in the first round of the presidential election Sunday. An outdoor meeting and festival in a Paris suburb was planned instead.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat interrupted talks on Israeli-Syrian troop disengagement with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to make a May Day speech at an industrial center south of Cairo. Kissinger and his wife were to go sightseeing in Alexandria, then take a Mediterranean boat ride.

In Uruguay, a powerful bomb exploded in front of a newspaper office on the eve of the first May Day in many years without an official labor celebration. The newspaper sides with military-backed President Juan M. Bordaberry, who outlawed labor union activities.

Bad News Bared For U.S. Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) —The government had mixed news for the consumer on Tuesday as it documented some bad news many farmers already realized.

The Agriculture Department's monthly report on prices farmers receive for their raw products showed a decline of 6 per cent by April 15. It came on the heels of a 4 per cent fall from mid-February to mid-March after three months of winter recovery.

The mid-April price index's decline was the worst since last autumn. The highest food prices since the end of World War II were recorded in August, but in the next three months farm prices fell 8 per cent, 4 per cent and 1.5 per cent.

Despite the fall, the price index was 17 per cent above mid-April 1973.

But the expenses farmers incur for operations, living expenses and taxes have risen 16 per cent in the same period, the report showed, eating up any improvement in their financial status to the point where another index showed they are at the same income-versus-costs point as they were this time a year ago.

For consumers — including farmers who purchase groceries, clothing, and feed — the report's significance was not so immediately clear.

On the one hand, a drop in the price of raw farm products should bring a drop in both wholesale and retail food prices. But those decisions are up to the middlemen who buy the goods at the farm level, process, package, deliver and sell them on the grocery shelves. Price changes have a traditional lead time of about three weeks.

Although the Tuesday reports show a five-tenths of one per cent decline in the prices farm families paid for food in mid-April, the latest USDA statistics

Local Issues Face Many Ohio Voters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Along with three statewide constitutional amendments, a host of local issues will face Ohioans in Tuesday's election.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown's office said 60 bond issues, 71 miscellaneous questions and 366 tax levies would be on ballots somewhere in the state.

Local issues include 197 levy and bond issue requests from about one-fifth of the state's school districts. Last November there were 312 such issues on the ballot.

The Ohio Education Association said 119 of next week's requests are for additional operating millage.

The OEA said this was somewhat above average for a May primary and reflected the runaway inflation that has hit school districts.

The OEA also listed 28 renewal levies, nine permanent improvement levies and 41 school construction bond issues. Six of the bond issues are for new joint vocational school facilities.

Fifty-one of the additional money issues are for five mills or more, the OEA said. Eight are for eight mills or more.

He lost a race for the U.S. Senate in 1968 to William B. Saxbe, President Nixon's attorney general.

Gilligan acknowledges he's looking past the May 7 primary to the general election campaign, where he'll probably face either former Gov. James A. Rhodes or state Rep. Charles Fry, R-75 Springfield, candidates for Republican nomination.

"I think Rhodes is the most formidable candidate the Republicans could put up," Gilligan observed. "I think he's the one I'd like to run against."

In that case — and to a lesser extent against Fry — political records would be the important issue, Gilligan said.

"It's fairly easy to compare the performance of various programs," he said. "We'd look to his approaches to such things as mental health, environmental protection, education, taxation, ethics..."

And about Fry? "He was in office when Rhodes was governor, and he didn't say much then," said Gilligan.

Either way, said the governor, "it will be a contrast with the old and the new, a real chance for the people of Ohio to make a meaningful decision, to look at factual material not buried under campaign rhetoric."

Money, obviously, will be of little concern. Gilligan's campaign chairman, Peter O'Grady, told reporters weeks ago the governor would spend

$1.5 million to get re-elected.

O'Grady last month reported receipts of $267,785 and expenditures of $148,420 for the period Oct. 1, 1973-April 8, 1974.

"I've long been a firm believer in the value of citizen involvement in political activities and campaigns," Gilligan said. "It's my conviction that given Watergate and given the now legal and self-imposed limits on campaign financing, the use of citizen volunteers will be even more important than ever."

"I'm spending the time I have to campaign attracting and activating and energizing volunteers."

Gilligan came in for some sharp criticism for his support of the Democratic party's candidate endorsement program — the same one that gave Hall, Celeste and U.S. Sen. Howard M. Metzzenbaum, D-Ohio, party backing.

One of the key complainants was John Glenn, former astronaut and Metzzenbaum's opponent May 7.

"I think that any party worth its salt should endorse candidates in a political campaign. Given the wide open primaries in Ohio, if a party does not get in and sift and recommend the most highly qualified, then we get into this silly name game."

A Glenn victory in May wouldn't mean that much to the process, Gilligan said. "But I think if both Celeste and Hall are beaten, or either one of them lose, it would seriously weaken the attraction of the endorsement procedure," he said.

"Of course, if both win, I think we've opened a new era of politics in Ohio," he added.

Gilligan — tall, slim, sandyhaired, relaxed — has made a name for himself nationally. Still, he insists his interest is in strengthening the Democratic party.

"I have no notions about 1976," he declared. "I'm a realist enough to know the odds for a governor, (to be nominated for President) especially with this kind of delegate selection process, are pretty, pretty slim."

20 The Circleville Herald, Wednesday May 1, 1974

FIRST TRY—Frank Plescia, one of the busiest Circleville High School trackmen Tuesday, clears the high jump at 5 feet 8 inches. In addition to the high jump he was also in the long jump and the hurdle qualifiers. The South Central Ohio League track meet was delayed by the rain and finals in the events are scheduled to begin at 5 p.m. Thursday.

BEFORE THE RAIN—Circleville's Reggie Radcliff sails over the bar at 12 feet before the rains washed out the South Central Ohio League track meet at Circleville High School. Minutes later in a pouring rain and wearing his sweat pants, Radcliff cleared 12 feet 6 inches easily. The preliminaries were held and field events had begun before the rain. The track meet resumes 5 p.m. Thursday at CHS.

Fear Wrecking Of Cincy Bengals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mike Reid, all-pro defensive tackle for the Cincinnati Bengals, said Tuesday the future World Football League contracts signed by two of his teammates "would cut the heart out of the team whether they go this year or two years from now."

He testified during a U.S. District Court hearing on the Bengals' bid for a preliminary injunction against the WFL. The hearing entered its third day today. Cincinnati coach and general manager Paul Brown was expected to take the stand.

Reid's remarks supported testimony by Bengals' assistant coach Charles "Chuck" Studley who maintained the lucrative half-million dollar contract signed by Bergey reduces "our chances of winning a championship this year to nil."

Reid's stand differed from a number of teammates who doubted the signing of Bergey and reserve defensive tackle Steve Chomyszak would dull any competitive desires.

Reid said players with future contracts would have a demoralizing effect on a team.

"When you go on the field on Sunday anything that upsets the emotion to play can destroy a team," Reid said.

When WFL attorney George Moscarino attempted to challenge

Reid's statement, the former Penn State All-American reiterated his belief.

"I repeat what I said before ... such a situation would wreck a football team," he said.

Attorneys for the WFL and Bergey have hit hard at the effect the signings would have on a team, with most of the players testifying that they would play all-out for whichever team they were under contract to.

Bengals center Bob Johnson, the first player drafted by the Cincinnati franchise, was among six players who said the WFL had approached them with offers.

Johnson said he hoped the Bengals would match the offer from Hawaii because he wanted to stay in Cincinnati.

Others contacted were quarterback Ken Anderson, tight end Bob Trumpy, punter Dave Lewis and tackle Rufus Mayes.

Halo's Princess Wins Feature At Lebanon

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Malo's Princess chugged through ankle-deep mud to pass Limber Legs for a victory in the featured pace at Lebanon Raceway Tuesday night.

Detroit Rips Royals, 7-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The hard-hitting Kansas City Royals normally would look forward to facing a pitcher who's winless in four decisions and has allowed 5½ runs a game. But not when his name is Mickey Lolich.

"I hate to catch a guy who is 0-4 like Lolich was," said Kansas City Manager Jack McKeon. "You know that a good pitcher's going to win sooner or later. You just know it ...."

If McKeon was worried before the game, he was convinced afterwards. Lolich, working mostly with off-speed pitches, scattered eight hits as Detroit dumped the Royals 7-2. Aurelio Rodriguez keyed the Tiger attack with two singles, a double and two runs batted in.

Elsewhere in the American League, the California Angels blasted the Boston Red Sox 16-6; the Cleveland Indians downed the Minnesota Twins 8-3; the Texas Rangers outlasted the Milwaukee Brewers 12-10; the New York Yankees edged the Oakland Athletics 4-3, and the Chicago White Sox shaded the Baltimore Orioles 2-1.

Lolich, a portly left-hander, has lost a little something off his fastball of late and has changed his style of pitching.

"I'm 33 so I throw a lot of sliders and a lot of knuckleballs. I had a good curve ball tonight but the velocity wasn't good," he said.

Angels 16, Red Sox 6

Fire-baller Nolan Ryan struck out a season-high 15 batters but his performance was marred by a fastball that got away in the first inning and hit Boston second baseman Doug Griffin just above the left ear. Griffin was carried unconscious from the field and hospitalized with a severe concussion.

Indians 8, Twins 3

Charlie Spikes stroked a two-run single to extend his hitting streak to 19 games as Cleveland won its fifth straight. Fritz Peterson and Fred Beene, both acquired from the Yankees last week, combined on an eight-hitter. Bobby Darwin homered twice for Minnesota.

Rangers 12, Brewers 10

Last-Minute Action Gives Bucks Victory

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Boston Celtics' pressure defense was all but impregnable for almost 52 minutes Tuesday night, but when a crack finally appeared Cornell Warner was ready.

Warner drove the lane for a pair of dunk shots, adding a free throw after the first one, in the last 34 seconds of overtime. His second basket gave the Milwaukee Bucks a 103-96 lead en route to a 105-96 victory, squaring their National Basketball Association championship playoff series at 1-1.

The Celtics battled from a 16-point deficit early in the third quarter to tie at 90-90 on two free throws by John Havlicek with 58 seconds left in regulation, the final points until the five minute extra period.

The Celtics had two more chances to win in regulation and thus take a 2-0 lead in the best of seven series back to Boston. However, Milwaukee's 7-foot-2 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar blocked a shot by Dave Cowens with 10 seconds left, and a jump shot by Havlicek rolled off the rim as regulation time expired.

The next two games will be in Boston, starting with game three Friday night.

The Bucks, leading 98-96, called time with 39 seconds left in overtime. Oscar Robertson passed inbound to Warner near midcourt when play resumed. Warner wheeled past Paul Silas, drove the lane and stuffed in the game's biggest basket. Cowens, who scored 17 points and grabbed 11 rebounds, fouled out on the play and Warner converted the free throw.

"It was the biggest dunk of the year. Baby, what a play," Bucks' Coach Larry Costello shouted.

"It was a beautiful move, a move a player should react to instinctively," Costello said. "He's supposed to forget the play we called when that happens and take the basket. He had the basket."

The 6-foot-9 Warner, who scored only 11 points but contributed 13 rebounds—eight more than in the Bucks' 98-83 defeat Sunday—said he knew he could beat Silas as soon as he took Robertson's pass.

"I was supposed to give it back to Oscar, but he was covered," Warner said. "I saw the layup and just decided to take it."

Coach Tom Heinsohn said he was proud of his Celtics.

"We didn't play our best game and it still took an overtime to beat us," Heinsohn said. "In two games, we won one big and lost the second in an overtime."

Agitate Contender For Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Trainer Jimmy Jimenez says, "I don't know if Agitate has run his best race yet."

And that could be bad news for a host of other trainers and owners who hope to win Saturday's 100th Kentucky Derby.

The Pennsylvania-bred colt who has campaigned in California is one of few 3-year-olds in the United States this year to go under 1:49 for 1 1/2 miles.

Agitate won the Bradbury Stakes by six lengths in 1:48 2-5, won the California Derby in 1:48 4-5 and also broke 1:49 when he finished third, less than a length out of first, in the Santa Anita Derby behind Destroyer, a Derby hopeful, and Aloha Mood, not in the Derby.

To make the Kentucky Derby his sixth victory in seven starts, Agitate, who did not race as a 2-year-old, will have to beat about 21 other 3-year-olds.

Entries for the 1 1/4-mile Derby at Churchill Downs will be made Thursday. A 22-horse field would equal the record set in 1928, when Reigh Count won, and would mean a gross purse of $319,000, with $267,500 to the winner.

Post time is 5:30 p.m., EDT. CBS will televise from 5 p.m.-6 p.m.

Agitate's toughest competition could come from the Woody Stephens-trained entry of Seth Hancock's Judger and John M. Olin's Cannonade and the Sigmund Sommer-owned pair of Rube The Great and Accipiter.

Judger, winner of the Florida Derby and Blue Grass Stakes, will be ridden by Laffit Pincay Jr., who rode Agitate in all of his races except the California Derby. Pincay is committed to ride Judger, so the great Bill Shoemaker will ride Agitate.

Cannonade, winner of the Stepping Stone Purse, will be ridden by Angel Cordero Jr., while Miguel A. Rivera will be aboard Rube The Great, first in divisions of the Gotham and Wood Memorial, and Angel Santiago will ride Accipiter.

FIRST TRY—Frank Plescia, one of the busiest Circleville High School trackmen Tuesday, clears the high jump at 5 feet 8 inches. In addition to the high jump he was also in the long jump and the hurdle qualifiers. The South Central Ohio League track meet was delayed by the rain and finals in the events are scheduled to begin at 5 p.m. Thursday.

BEFORE THE RAIN—Circleville's Reggie Radcliff sails over the bar at 12 feet before the rains washed out the South Central Ohio League track meet at Circleville High School. Minutes later in a pouring rain and wearing his sweat pants, Radcliff cleared 12 feet 6 inches easily. The preliminaries were held and field events had begun before the rain. The track meet resumes 5 p.m. Thursday at CHS.

Fear Wrecking Of Cincy Bengals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mike Reid, all-pro defensive tackle for the Cincinnati Bengals, said Tuesday the future World Football League contracts signed by two of his teammates "would cut the heart out of the team whether they go this year or two years from now."

He testified during a U.S. District Court hearing on the Bengals' bid for a preliminary injunction against the WFL. The hearing entered its third day today. Cincinnati coach and general manager Paul Brown was expected to take the stand.

Reid's remarks supported testimony by Bengals' assistant coach Charles "Chuck" Studley who maintained the lucrative half-million dollar contract signed by Bergey reduces "our chances of winning a championship this year to nil."

Reid's stand differed from a number of teammates who doubted the signing of Bergey and reserve defensive tackle Steve Chomyszak would dull any competitive desires.

Reid said players with future contracts would have a demoralizing effect on a team.

"When you go on the field on Sunday anything that upsets the emotion to play can destroy a team," Reid said. When WFL attorney George Moscarino attempted to challenge

Reid's statement, the former Penn State All-American reiterated his belief.

"I repeat what I said before ... such a situation would wreck a football team," he said.

Attorneys for the WFL and Bergey have hit hard at the effect the signings would have on a team, with most of the players testifying that they would play all-out for whichever team they were under contract to.

Bengals center Bob Johnson, the first player drafted by the Cincinnati franchise, was among six players who said the WFL had approached them with offers.

Johnson said he hoped the Bengals would match the offer from Hawaii because he wanted to stay in Cincinnati.

Others contacted were quarterback Ken Anderson, tight end Bob Trumpy, punter Dave Lewis and tackle Rufus Mayes.

Detroit Rips Royals, 7-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The hard-hitting Kansas City Royals normally would look forward to facing a pitcher who's winless in four decisions and has allowed 5½ runs a game. But not when his name is Mickey Lolich.

"I hate to catch a guy who is 0-4 like

Lolich was," said Kansas City Manager Jack McKeon. "You know that a good pitcher's going to win sooner or later. You just know it ...." If McKeon was worried before the game, he was convinced afterwards. Lolich, working mostly with off-speed pitches, scattered eight hits as Detroit dumped the Royals 7-2. Aurelio Rodriguez keyed the Tiger attack with two singles, a double and two runs batted in.

Elsewhere in the American League, the California Angels blasted the Boston Red Sox 16-6; the Cleveland Indians downed the Minnesota Twins 8-3; the Texas Rangers outlasted the Milwaukee Brewers 12-10; the New York Yankees edged the Oakland Athletics 4-3, and the Chicago White Sox shaded the Baltimore Orioles 2-1.

Lolich, a portly left-hander, has lost a little something off his fastball of late and has changed his style of pitching. "I'm 33 so I throw a lot of sliders and a lot of knuckleballs. I had a good curve ball tonight but the velocity wasn't good," he said.

Angels 16, Red Sox 6

Fire-baller Nolan Ryan struck out a season-high 15 batters but his performance was marred by a fastball that got away in the first inning and hit Boston second baseman Doug Griffin just above the left ear. Griffin was carried unconscious from the field and hospitalized with a severe concussion.

Indians 8, Twins 3

Charlie Spikes stroked a two-run single to extend his hitting streak to 19 games as Cleveland won its fifth straight. Fritz Peterson and Fred Beene, both acquired from the Yankees last week, combined on an eight-hitter. Bobby Darwin homered twice for Minnesota.

Rangers 12, Brewers 10

Jeff Burroughs, Jim Spencer and Cesar Tovar hit home runs for Texas. Burroughs and Spencer hit theirs consecutively in the eighth inning to put the Rangers ahead for good. Johnny Briggs drove in three runs for Milwaukee.

Yankees 4, Athletics 3

Back-to-back home runs by Roy White and Chris Chambliss in the eighth inning gave New York the win. Mel Stottlemyre picked up his fifth victory against one loss. Vida Blue dropped to 0-3 for Oakland.

White Sox 2, Orioles 1

Ron Santo's first American League homer, a two-run shot, accounted for Chicago's victory. Stan Bahnsen tossed a seven-hitter for the White Sox, besting Jim Palmer. Bobby Grich singled home the lone Baltimore run.

Kentucky Defeats Miami Of Ohio, 6-0

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky's Gerald Belcher slugged a double and triple, bringing in four runs, as Kentucky defeated Miami of Ohio 6-0 here Tuesday in college baseball action.

The second game of the double header was rained out.

Belcher set a new UK record of 38 RBIs, breaking the old mark of 36 set by Derek Bryant in 1971.

Belcher's triple came in the sixth inning with the bases loaded, and the three made it home safely.

Cincinnati Reds Ponder Problems With Pitching

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, their pitching still a combination of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, may be eyeing an experiment with some minor league talent to correct a sluggish start.

Reports are circulating that the Reds are considering elevating two pitchers from their Class AAA farm team in Indianapolis.

The Reds, 10-9 for the season, were rained out at Pittsburgh Monday night. The rainout cost Roger Nelson his first start in a week.

Don Gullett, who has won 11 of his last 12 decisions since July, will take the mound tonight against Dock Ellis. Sheldon "Chief" Bender, Reds director of player personnel, spent the weekend with the club in St. Louis then departed for Indianapolis.

The Reds are reportedly closely watching the progress of righthander Pat Zachary and lefthander Will McEnaney.

The duo may be in line to replace a member of the slowstarting hill staff.

The pitching staff's earned run average has been battered for a 4.25 mark, with only one route-going effort in the first 19 games.

The Cardinals won two of three from the Reds in Cincinnati's last series, scoring 15 runs including a 9-2 rout in the finale.

Loser Clay Kirby, now 1-3, said a week's layoff hampered him. "You can't stay sharp pitching once a week," he said.

Manager George "Sparky" Anderson has said he'll stay with a five-man rotation until the arms start rounding into form.

Tuesday's rain forced Anderson to ip Nelson's turn in favor of Gullett, 2-1, who was the winning pitcher in the opener against St. Louis.

Nelson fired six innings of one-hit ball in his last outing a week ago Tuesday.

The bright spot of recent days was the shutout stint by rookie reliever Pat Osburn. He worked three and a third innings against the Cards Sunday and drew praise from catcher Johnny Bench.

"Osburn's stuff is as good as anyone on our staff," said Bench.

"I think he has the stuff to become another Tommy John," he added. John is a starter for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Cards Top Braves; Aaron Homers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Vic Raschi and Lynn McGlothen are from two different baseball eras, but Hank Aaron bridged their generation gap Tuesday night.

Babe Ruth was a seemingly unreachable 713 homers away on April 23, 1954, when Aaron started his homer brigade in St. Louis, belting No. 1 off Raschi.

Twenty years, 719 home runs and 1,399 extra base hits later, St. Louis was the site of another Aaron home run, this one served up by McGlothen.

"Why should I worry about his 720th," said McGlothen, who helped pitch the Cardinals to a 7-2 victory over the Braves. "He'd hit 719 of them before."

Elsewhere in the National League, the Houston Astros downed the Chicago Cubs 4-2; the San Diego Padres shaded the Montreal Expos 2-1; the New York Mets edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 8-7; the Philadelphia Phillies nipped the San Francisco Giants 6-5, and the Cincinnati Reds-Pittsburgh Pirates game was rained out.

Red Schoendienst has had to play and manage against Aaron. He has seen many of the 45 homers Aaron has hit off St. Louis pitching.

Astros 4, Cubs 2

The Astros scored 14 less runs than they did Monday night but still had enough to win the game.

And then there were three.

The Boston Bruins, behind a tie-breaking, third-period goal by young Gregg Sheppard in the final two minutes, defeated the Chicago Black Hawks 4-2 Tuesday night, won their Stanley Cup semifinal series four games to two and advanced to the National Hockey League championships.

Meanwhile, the Philadelphia Flyers moved a giant step closer to filling the other berth in the championship set by beating the New York Rangers 4-1 and taking a 3-2 lead in their semifinal.

Bruins Coach Bep Guidolin says he has no preference who makes the finals against Boston.

"I don't care who we go up against," said Guidolin. "Whoever you are going to meet is going to be good."

Sheppard broke a 2-2 tie with just 1:49 left in the game with his ninth playoff goal, taking a pass from Dallas Smith and beating Hawks goalie Tony Esposito. Phil Esposito wrapped it up with an empty net tally 33 seconds later.

The Rangers dominated the first period and the start of the second, but then Philadelphia took charge.

Flyers Coach Fred Shero said Terry Crisp, the Flyers' hustling center, was screaming on the bench during the second period about going all out.

Shero sent Crisp into the game, and the Flyers dominated the remainder of the action with their finest display of skating since the opening game of the series.

New York Coach Emile Francis said his team let the game slip away when it had a chance to break it open in the first period.

Pete Stelmowski scored the only goal of the first period at 6:16 to give New York a 1-0 lead. Bladon tied it at 6:39 of the middle period, then MacLeish put Philadelphia ahead with a long shot past goalie Ed Giacomin, with Gary Dornhoefer effectively screening Giacomin.

The Flyers' Dave Schultz broke a record in the first period when he amassed 17 penalty minutes to boost his total for nine playoff games to 96. The old NHL mark was 80 minutes served by John Ferguson of Montreal in 1969 during 14 games against New York, Boston and St. Louis.

Jack Kucek Named Top MAC Player

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jack Kucek, Miami University junior who pitched his team to two baseball victories last week, has been named MidAmerican Conference Spring Athlete of the Week.

Kucek, who is 5-2 for the season, gave his team a 2-0 victory over Ball State University last Saturday, and pitched five scoreless innings in an 8-4 victory over Cincinnati earlier in the week.

Tribe Rips Minnesota

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP)—The Minnesota Twins have lost four out of their last five games, and Manager Frank Quilici says he is glad the American League club can take a breather for the next two days.

The Cleveland Indians defeated the Twins 8-3 Tuesday night for their fifth straight victory.

"Having the next two days off is a good thing for us in a couple of ways," Quilici said. "It will help us heal up some injuries. It will also give us a chance to back off and take a look at how we've been playing, especially lately."

Cleveland's Charlie Spikes stretched his hitting streak to 19 games with a key two-run single Tuesday night in the fifth inning. George Hendrick capped the inning with another two-run single.

The inning was too much for loser Bert Blyleven, 2-3, who was relieved by Ray Corbin.

The Indians started out right against Blyleven, scoring two runs in the first inning.

Southwest Ohio Fishing Spotty

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—The caller asked for a report on fishing prospects in Wildlife District Four, which maintains headquarters in Xenia.

"Our weather hasn't been too good," understated John Walker in reply.

Walker, fish management supervisor in District Four, quickly pointed out that state test nettings had been delayed by heavy rains, widely fluctuating temperatures and other problems.

In the "other" category, of course, was the vicious tornado that raked this area of southwestern Ohio last month.

Based on 1973 catch reports and last fall's test netting, however, Walker singled out Grand Lake St. Marys, Lake Loramie and Rocky Fork Lake as likely top fishing spots this season.

And just as promising as the best lakes, Walker added, are the many streams in District Four that offer some of Ohio's best smallmouth fishing.

With 12,250 surface acres, St. Marys is the largest lake entirely in Ohio. Located off SR 29, two miles west of St. Marys, the lake's widely varied habitat is home to good populations of crappie, largemouth bass, channel catfish and panfish.

Crappies especially are plentiful and of outstanding average size, Walker reported. Test nets revealed eight-inch crappies on average with much larger fish commonly taken from the lake.

Walker recommended fishing channels, reeds, stump areas and backwater ponds scattered around the lake.

Dip fishing is a specialty on Lake Loramie's 1,600 acres in northwest Shelby County, Walker said. The method consists of using long cane poles to fish soft crawfish around stumps in the shallows.

Loramie is one of the district's outstanding bass lakes—good enough, Walker said, that a Michigan bass club held a major fishing tournament there recently.

The lake is cluttered in areas with stumps which are good bass habitat. Channel catfish angling also is good at Loramie, he said.

Muskellunge are among the main attractions at Rocky Fork Lake near Hillsboro in Highland County. "Pretty good" numbers of the reluctant game fish are taken by casing in the shallows in spring and trolling large plugs in deeper water in summer, Walker said. Crappie fishing is not expected to be particularly good at Rocky Fork this year because of a recent downturn in the specie's reproduction cycle, he said. And, bass fishing is not outstanding there either, although natives who know the lake take their share, Walker explained.

There are full public facilities, including campgrounds, at Loramie, Lake St. Marys and Rocky Fork, the latter two of which are part of state parks.

Exceptional small mouth fishing can be found in numerous streams in District Four, Walker said, including among the best the Little Miami, Caesar Creek, East Fork of the Little Miami, Ohio Brush Creek, Paint Creek, Eagle Creek and White Oak Creek.

Local tackle shops are helpful in recommending the best river fishing spots and because of changing water conditions it is always wise to call ahead before traveling too far to stream fish.

Jim Lonborg was the last American Leaguer to pitch a World Series shutout. He achieved it for Boston against St. Louis, winning a one-hitter 5-0.

Greif, 2-4, pitched into the ninth and Romo got the final two outs with the bases loaded, striking out Jim Lytle and inducing Ron Hunt to ground out.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Don't let your enthusiasm get the better of you. Your ambitions should be controlled if the course they take makes you ruthless with others.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): You rarely muddle through things in inefficient fashion, but may now tend to be disenchanted, capricious, careless in word or deed. Curb such inclinations.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A potent Mercury day stimulates your versatility, ingenuity and general mental alertness. Cooperate with helpful influences and it will pay off.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Do not undertake enterprises which you cannot possibly handle nor make promises which you can't fulfill. Curb overoptimism and handle "musts" before taking on new obligations.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Planets benefic, generally sponsoring new advances. A chance to exercise your gift of enterprise, which is considerable.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Skepticism could defeat the fully charged action this day deserves. Believe in yourself and in your goals — and keep forging ahead.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Avoid being led astray by those who are heedless of circumstances, careless of responsibilities. You will face more distractions than you think, so keep up your guard.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Survey chances: some should be rewarding. Plan on some expansion but curtail where necessary. Get your picture in focus, and you will benefit later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Certain suggestions must be ignored; other accepted quickly, put to discerning use. The right choices can result in a field day.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Planetary influences now favor novel pursuits, imaginative revitalizing of all interests. Display your talents in marketable areas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Even if all is not patterned neatly and precisely, don't fret. Take each situation in turn and consider all factors involved. You can change many "impossible" situations.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Excellent Neptune influences. An encouraging period! Bolster your self-confidence, your powers of concentration, and be patient for the results that WILL come.

YOU BORN TODAY have been endowed with unusual creative ability, an all-encompassing love of beauty and a warm and outgoing manner which attracts others at first sight. You have a gift for words and a sense of rhythm that practically guarantees success should you turn to writing or music as a career. However, should you take up business instead, you may well turn to either of the aforementioned arts as an avocation. Either would be a splendid outlet for your emotions and for the idealism which is basic in your nature. Your love and sympathy for your fellowman makes you a "natural" for medicine or nursing, and your affinity for the outdoors may lead you to horticulture, agriculture or botany with great success. On the minus side, your innate stubbornness and tendency to be dogmatic with associates can lead to enmity. So-o-o... Curb! Birthdate of: Catherine the Great, of Russia; Bing Crosby, singer.

Toledo Press Box Damaged By Squatters

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—University of Toledo maintenance men found they had some unanticipated repair work to do in the Glass Bowl press box when they opened it for spring cleaning.

They discovered a family of raccoons had taken up residence during the winter and had destroyed just about everything their teeth could chew.

Maintenance foreman Ron Beczynski said the mother and father raccoons had made a cozy nest for themselves and their five kits from cotton stuffing of folding leather chairs.

Segments of our society are being separated by the language they create, says Philip Lesly in "The People Factor: Managing the Human Climate." Lesly says that specialization sometimes requires special terminology. But there is an added factor — snobbishness. People want to make sure others recognize they are on a different level. So they deliberately develop jargon that sets them apart.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — It's rare for a major company to invite viewer comments on a show it sponsors. It's even rarer for the company's board chairman to go on TV to help out with the corporate invitations.

But in the case of E.M. deWindt and his firm, the Eaton Corp., it's resulted in what the company says is more than 10,000 viewer letters on just two hour-long programs.

The shows were the opening salvos in CBS' "The American Parade," a 13-part series of historical programs the network will air through 1976 to help celebrate the American bicentennial.

The first show, "We, the Women," narrated by Mary Tyler Moore, aired March 17. The second, "Power and the Presidency," narrated by George C. Scott, was broadcast last Wednesday.

At the end of each, deWindt appeared on camera, made a brief speech about the show and asked viewers to share their thoughts about the show with the series' sponsor, Eaton Corp.

Then an off-camera announcer gave the address of the Cleveland-based company, which manufactures truck, auto and industrial vehicle components.

The mail response to "We, the Women" was nearly 10,000 letters, according to an Eaton spokesman who said the second show drew more than 500 letters over the weekend "and the mail is still coming in."

DeWindt, who estimated that 50 per cent of the mail was addressed to him personally, said the idea of going on camera initially surprised him when it was brought up. "I don't think I'd thought very much about it because this whole package was really tied to the bicentennial celebration," he said.

He got in the act, he added, because "I think we were trying to personalize it and get people involved in the spirit of the bicentennial. And I think we were particularly anxious to find out if we were hitting the mark."

Does he feel more top business executives should appear on television as spokesmen for shows their companies are sponsoring? "Well, I don't advocate it but I'm not against it," deWindt said. "It depends on what the company may be trying to accomplish."

Needham Relieved As Coach

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Bill Needham was relieved as coach of the Cleveland Crusaders on Tuesday, General Manager Jack Vivian said.

Vivian said the World Hockey Association club had no time-table on naming a new coach.

"Bill Needham has accepted a position as administrative assistant and scout for the Crusaders. It's not a dismissal as a coach, it's a promotion for Bill Needham," he added.

As of Oct. 31, 1972, there were 30,828 officers and 1,984 civilians in the police roster in New York. Chicago was next with 13,125 officers and 1,266 civilians.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Don't let your enthusiasm get the better of you. Your ambitions should be controlled if the course they take makes you ruthless with others.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): You rarely muddle through things in inefficient fashion, but may now tend to be disenchanted, capricious, careless in word or deed. Curb such inclinations.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A potent Mercury day stimulates your versatility, ingenuity and general mental alertness. Cooperate with helpful influences and it will pay off.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Do not undertake enterprises which you cannot possibly handle nor make promises which you can't fulfill. Curb overoptimism and handle "musts" before taking on new obligations.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Planets benefic, generally sponsoring new advances. A chance to exercise your gift of enterprise, which is considerable.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Skepticism could defeat the fully charged action this day deserves. Believe in yourself and in your goals — and keep forging ahead.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Avoid being led astray by those who are heedless of circumstances, careless of responsibilities. You will face more distractions than you think, so keep up your guard.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Survey chances: some should be rewarding. Plan on some expansion but curtail where necessary. Get your picture in focus, and you will benefit later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Certain suggestions must be ignored; other accepted quickly, put to discerning use. The right choices can result in a field day.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Planetary influences now favor novel pursuits, imaginative revitalizing of all interests. Display your talents in marketable areas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Even if all is not patterned neatly and precisely, don't fret. Take each situation in turn and consider all factors involved. You can change many "impossible" situations.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20):

20): Excellent Neptune influences. An encouraging period! Bolster your self-confidence, your powers of concentration, and be patient for the results that WILL come.

YOU BORN TODAY have been endowed with unusual creative ability, an all-encompassing love of beauty and a warm and outgoing manner which attracts others at first sight. You have a gift for words and a sense of rhythm that practically guarantees success should you turn to writing or music as a career. However, should you take up business instead, you may well turn to either of the aforementioned arts as an avocation. Either would be a splendid outlet for your emotions and for the idealism which is basic in your nature. Your love and sympathy for your fellowman makes you a "natural" for medicine or nursing, and your affinity for the outdoors may lead you to horticulture, agriculture or botany with great success. On the minus side, your innate stubbornness and tendency to be dogmatic with associates can lead to enmity. So-o-o... Curb! Birthdate of: Catherine the Great, of Russia; Bing Crosby, singer.

Toledo Press Box Damaged By Squatters

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—University of Toledo maintenance men found they had some unanticipated repair work to do in the Glass Bowl press box when they opened it for spring cleaning.

They discovered a family of raccoons had taken up residence during the winter and had destroyed just about everything their teeth could chew.

Maintenance foreman Ron Beczynski said the mother and father raccoons had made a cozy nest for themselves and their five kits from cotton stuffing of folding leather chairs.

Segments of our society are being separated by the language they create, says Philip Lesly in "The People Factor: Managing the Human Climate." Lesly says that specialization sometimes requires special terminology. But there is an added factor — snobbery. People want to make sure others recognize they are on a different level. So they deliberately develop jargon that sets them apart.

Vocational School Has Few Openings

The first and second rounds of The Pickaway-Ross Vocational Center's initial enrollment process have resulted in 547 students being placed in the Center's 25 programs. Nineteen of the Center's programs are now filled to capacity; six programs, however, still have openings. These programs are drafting, accounting, computing, home and community, horticulture, food service, and printing.

All tenth grade students who have an interest in attending the vocational center, but have not yet made application, should do so as soon as possible for the remaining programs, as application for these programs is being conducted on a first come, first serve basis.

Interested students and their parents should contact their home school counselor regarding details. Letters of acceptance will be sent to all parents of accepted students. In addition, a special certificate will be presented directly to each placed student at their school by their home school counselor.

Classes at the vocational center are scheduled to begin on Sept. 4. The school day will run from 8:45 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. Students will spend three hours a day in laboratory or shop experiences in their major area of study, plus one and a half hours a day in related class work. The remaining one hour of the school day will be spent studying an academic subject: English for 11th grade students and American History-Government for 12th grade students. During a portion of the day, students in co-op programs will be placed out on a job in the community.

There will be no tuition charge for students who enter the vocational center from one of the participating school districts. However, students will be expected to pay for protective clothing and some materials. In addition, some students will begin to acquire the tools necessary for entry into their selected occupation.

The home schools will provide bus transportation for students to and from the vocational center each day. Students may elect to drive to school providing that they seek parental and school permission. Some programs such as co-op programs may require that students furnish their own transportation.

All students who successfully complete their course work at the vocational center will have the benefit of placement services which will be available at the center. In addition, students interested in the military or in attending colleges or technical schools, etc., will have the opportunity to avail themselves of counseling services in these areas.

Students who successfully complete their regular course work at the vocational center and meet all course requirements at their home school, will graduate from their home high school with a regular high school diploma. Students attending the vocational center will also be eligible to participate in their home schools athletic and extra-curricular activities.

Joan Bennett Stars In Dramatic Play

"Butterflies Are Free" is the most dramatic production presented at the Country Dinner Playhouse in a long time. The play by Leonard Cershe is currently running at the dinner playhouse near Reynoldsburg and stars the indomitable Joan Bennett.

Miss Bennett has made over 70 motion pictures but is more recently famous for her role in the television serial "Dark Shadows" which ran on ABC for five years.

She is the daughter of famed actor Richard Bennett and actress Adrienne Morrison. Miss Bennett is the mother of four daughters and lives between stock productions of "Butterflies" in Scarsdale, N. Y.

In the play, Miss Bennett portrays the mother of a blind boy who moves from under her wing to an apartment in New York. Breaking an agreement not to visit him for two months after his move, she stops by one day and catches him in a humorous situation with the girl who lives next door.

Co-starring as the blind boy and the girl with whom he falls in love are Brian Brownlee and Lindsay Crouse. Brownlee has been a regular on two daytime serials, "Love of Life" and "As The World Turns". He last appeared in "The Prodigal Daughter" at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington D.C.

Miss Crouse has spent the past few years working in New York theaters and has played a wide variety of parts from Greek tragedies to the super mod. She has a bachelor of Arts degree from Harvard University and went to Broadway as a dancer.

Playing a short part as the man who tries unsuccessfully to take the girl away from the blind boy is Tony Del Valle. Valle is a native of New York City but has been in the Columbus area as a student at Otterbein College where he graduated with a major in theater.

Of all the acting roles, blindness is perhaps one of the most difficult to create effectively. Brownlee is marvelous in the role which calls for a touching yet light-hearted portrayal of a young man stricken since birth.

The Country Dinner Playhouse offers a delightful Broadway play which changes monthly preceded by an excellent buffet dinner. Current productions run Tuesday through Sunday evenings with a luncheon buffet and matinee on Sunday afternoon.

From 1948 to the present time he has served as either treasurer or assistant treasurer, was junior warden for five years and senior warden for six years.
